Youngsters Examined At Heart Clinic Here

FLUOROSCOPE examination seems to bewilder Jo Ann Kneisley, 2, but Dr. Samuel Kaplan of Cincinnati Children's Hospital assures her that everything is all right. Jo Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Kneisley of Dennis Road near New Holland, was one of 20 patients at Thursday's heart clinic at the health department.

Doctors in this area were given an assist Thursday in treatment of their younger heart patients when the 9th annual Fayette County heart clinic was held at the county health department.

Some 20 youngsters, all sent to the clinic by their own family doctors, went under the trained eye of a staff of heart specialists from Cincinnati.

The youngsters were given general examinations, as well as cardiogram and fluoroscope tests by the specialists, in order that their family doctors will have better information on the patient's actual or suspected heart ailments.

Reports on the group were being made out as the day's proceedings went on, so that they may be in the mail by Friday morning and any treatment that may be needed may get underway promptly.

Toledo Credit Aide Robbed Of $50,000

TOLEDO (AP)—The treasurer of the Willys Federal Credit Union was robbed of $50,000 in cash today by two armed men in a parking lot at the auto plant.

Andrew Jones, 67, said he had just returned from a Toledo Trust Co. branch bank.

Jones said that as he turned into the parking lot, a car driven by a man wearing a black mask forced his vehicle to the curb.

The masked bandit got out, pointed a pistol at the credit union official, forced him into a ravine, told him to keep walking.

After taking the money, that bandit and another, also masked, escaped in another car which had been parked nearby in the lot.

Jones described the get-away vehicle as "a late model car."

The credit union treasurer had obtained the funds to cash employee checks for payday tomorrow at the Willys Motor Co.

Shortly after the holdup, police broadcast a description of one of the bandits as about 25 to 30 years old, 5 feet, 9 inches tall, 170 pounds, wearing a plaid jacket and gray trousers.

Credit union officials said the funds were insured.

Final Polishing Slated On New Farm Measure

Omnibus Bill Ready Except For Few Minor Points, Solons Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee turned today to polishing up a controversial election-year farm bill with most of its major provisions already determined.

Tentative agreement late yesterday on a program for supporting corn and other livestock feed grains left only minor compromises ahead in the committee's effort to rewrite two widely differing farm bills into a single measure.

Still ahead, if the bill is to become law, is the need for first House and then Senate approval and for President Eisenhower's signature on a measure which now contains many provisions he has opposed.

Eisenhower declined to say yesterday what stand he will take.

"The whole bill has to be in front of me before I can say a word," he declared.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP member of the Senate Agriculture Committee, both have predicted a presidential veto if the final bill, like the present one, calls for a return to higher, rigid price supports.

BUT SEN. ELLENDER (D-La.), chairman of the conference group, had a different idea.

"Sure, he'll sign it," Ellender said, contending the omnibus measure includes "just about everything he asked in the way of farm legislation this year except for some credit proposals."

Ellender declared that Eisenhower "is going to end up with a goose egg" if he vetoes the bill and then asks Congress to pass only a soil bank measure.

Asked about Eisenhower's repeated criticism of the bill in its present form, Ellender snapped:

"He doesn't know what's in it now. That's the trouble with him and with Benson too. If someone would tell President Eisenhower what's really in the bill, he would see the light."

Under the tentative committee agreement reached yesterday, prices of the feed grains (oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums) would be supported at a level five parity points below corn. The bill would provide 90 percent of parity supports for corn in commercial growing areas this year, making the feed grain level 85 percent.

Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Ellender said the higher support levels included in the bill would raise prices on all the grains above those previously announced.

To qualify for either price supports or soil bank payments farmers would be required to reduce their plantings 15 percent below the acreage limitations fixed by the Agriculture Department.

Boy Killer, 14, Due To Serve Life Sentence

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP)—Tommy Williams Jr., 14, was convicted of first degree murder today in the slaying of 9-year-old Cub Scout David Powell.

The verdict carries a recommendation of mercy, which means a mandatory life sentence.

Tommy Williams Jr.

The jury of 12 men received the case shortly before dinner time yesterday. After mulling over three days of testimony for about three hours, the jury was sent by Judge David A. McKee to its hotel for the night.

The jurist gave the jurors six possible verdicts: That Tommy was legally insane at the time of the crime and is insane now that he is insane then but sane now, that he is guilty of first degree murder with a recommendation for mercy, that he is guilty of second degree murder, or that he is innocent.

The state is asking for a first-degree murder verdict with a life sentence.

Psychiatrists for the defense testified Tommy was the victim of a mother love complex and killed his playmate to satisfy an urge to do away with his own father.

Prosecutor Joseph A. Gompers, in his summation scoffed at the theory. He said the psychiatrist "were looking for a textbook theory and found it" and pushed the boy into that category.

When Terhune completed his explanation, Taylor Groff, president of the Miami Trace Board, asked why the city board had not said it would close the doors of the high school if the transfer did not go through.

Terhune explained that the city board "does not believe in threats" and had not expected the transfer to fail anyway. "We felt you were sincere," he added, "but you were overpowered."

The members of the Miami Trace board pointed out that nothing in the transfer agreement stated that elementary pupils from the city would go to county grade schools.

Terhune said later that while no formal agreement had been put down on paper regarding the interchange of students (sending some from the city to the Miami Trace schools), the city board was discussing the possibilities in good faith and was confident the Miami Trace boards would cooperate on a mutual problem. Terhune commented that there were many other details that would have had to be worked out also.

Groff said the city board had told the Miami Trace board that it had no money to pay tuition of grade school students. He said he could not understand why failure of transfer could affect the educational load because the pupils would attend the same schools the had in the past.

At the meeting were President Groff, Gordon Cowdery, Robert Owens, Richard Snider, Herbert Perrill, Supt. W. W. One of the 50 members of the Gradale Sorority will be telephoning you soon to ask you to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross blood bank during the second 1956 visit of the Bloodmobile on April 18.

The campaign for donors will be aimed at making your visit to the Bloodmobile as short as possible, according to Mrs. Carolyn Shaper, Red Cross blood drive chairman for the county.

The Gradale workers will ask everyone who pledges to give blood when they can most conveniently visit the blood center at the First Christian Church at North North and East Temple streets.

If a prospective donor names a time when the center is likely to be crowded, the solicitor will tell him so. That way, he can choose another hour when he will not have to wait to donate.

The hours set for this visit of the Bloodmobile are 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

The need for blood is great, Mrs. Shaper said.

Even though the last blood drive on Feb. 13 brought in 175 pints—25 over quota—the use of blood at Memorial Hospital has been so great this year that the county now "owes" the Columbus blood bank 80 pints of blood.

The hospital has used 255 pints of blood so far this year, 56 in January, 89 in February and 110 in March. The February blood drive, pushed over its goal by the sponsoring Phi Beta Psi Sorority, still leaves the county 80 pints "in debt."

Since so many patients received blood during the past three months, the sponsors of this drive are going to make sure the county is not in debt.

Explanations Are Repeated at Joint Meeting

City School Board Accepts Invitation Of Miami Trace Board

The Washington C. H. school board Wednesday night accepted an invitation to an informal joint meeting with the Miami Trace board in the MT offices at the Wilson School.

Most of the meeting was devoted to a repetition of the city board's explanation of why it had closed the doors of Washington C. H. High School to some 230 tuition pupils from the Miami Trace district.

President Robert Terhune of the city board repeated explanations that had been made at a meeting in the Washington C. H. High School on March 24.

At that meeting, the city board told parents of the tuition students that the youngsters from the Miami Trace district could no longer be accepted because of space limitations at the high school.

The problem of space became acute with the failure of a proposed territory transfer. That transfer would have taken a belt of land surrounding the city out of the Miami Trace district and made it a part of the city district, it was explained.

The transfer had been agreed upon by the city and Miami Trace boards and approved by the County School Board when remonstrance petitions from residents of the territory blocked the move.

WHEN TERHUNE completed his explanation, Taylor Groff, president of the Miami Trace Board, asked why the city board had not said it would close the doors of the high school if the transfer did not go through.

Terhune explained that the city board "does not believe in threats" and had not expected the transfer to fail anyway. "We felt you were sincere," he added, "but you were overpowered."

More Polio Shots To Be Given Here

Shots of Salk polio vaccine supplied by the federal government will be available on a "first come, first served" basis to about 900 Fayette County children next Wednesday.

The vaccine will be administered to children from 1 to 10 years of age by "about 15" family doctors in Washington C. H., said Dr. Joseph Herbert of the Fayette County Board of Health and Dr. Benton V. D. Scott, county health commissioner.

In a joint statement, the two physicians announced that the vaccine, purchased for $30,000, 000 voted by Congress for the purpose, was now available here.

In authorizing the purchase of the vaccine, Congress barred use of the vaccine for third shots thus limiting each patient to two injections of the polio-fighting vaccine.

The two-injection schedule is the one recommended by Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine.

THE VACCINE will treat about 30 percent of the county's children in the age group from 1 to 10, according to estimates by Dr. Herbert and Dr. Scott.

Also eligible for the shots are expectant mothers whose children are due during or after polio season reaches its height.

The physicians explained that plans for distribution of the vaccine were worked out by Dr. Scott and a committee of members of the Fayette County Medical Society.

The available methods included (1) giving shots in special clinics like those set up at the schools to administer vaccine donated by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis or (2) distributing the vaccine to family doctors and allowing them to give the shots.

The second method was adopted, they said, because the first would present the problem of selecting which children were to receive shots and which were not.

Congress's appropriation for the vaccine, they said, provided that no "means test" could be used to select children who would get the vaccine. That is, the vaccine could not be distributed only to those children who could not otherwise afford the shots.

So, the doctors said, the second method was chosen—administering the shots in family doctors' offices on a "first come, first served" basis.

THEY EXPLAINED that a charge would be made for administering the vaccine, but that the vaccine itself was free. No schedule of fees for administering the shots was agreed upon.

Dr. Herbert estimated that this program would bring the total of children who have received shots here to about 70 percent of the age group from 1 to 10.

This program will take care of

New Violence Erupting In Holy Land

Hammarskjold to Leave Tomorrow To Seek Israeli-Arab Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today prepared to leave on a new peace mission to the Middle East at a time when more violence erupted in the Holy Land.

Armed with unanimous authorization from the Security Council, Hammarskjold plans to leave tomorrow to investigate the causes of tension along the Israeli-Arab borders.

He is to report back to the Security Council within a month with measures to calm down Israel and her Arab neighbors.

New violence on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier underlined the urgency of Hammarskjold's task.

Israel claimed an Egyptian patrol attacked Israeli troops near the Gaza Strip border, killing three Israeli soldiers in a four-hour exchange. The Egyptians said the Israelis opened fire first and killed an Arab Palestinian soldier.

In Damascus, a usually reliable source reported the Soviet Union has promised Israel's Arab neighbors sufficient military, political and financial aid if Western military intervention in the Middle East develops.

THE UNITED STATES, Britain and France in recent months have repeatedly cited their 1950 pledge to prevent any change in Israel's frontier's by force.

En route to the Middle East, the secretary general planned to fly by way of London and Paris to consult with Foreign Office experts on arms sales questions and other problems.

He told the council yesterday, after it adopted the U. S. resolution to send him back to the Middle East, that he shared world concern over the dangers in Palestine area.

He visited the area in January and discussed the situation then with Israeli and Arab leaders. On his return he told newsmen he was optimistic that developments would avert war.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. chief delegate and council president for April, voiced the council's confidence in the secretary general and its good wishes. Israeli and Arab spokesmen had previously promised cooperation with the mission.

Soviet Delegate Arkady Sobolev went along with the rest of the council in voting for the U. S. resolution, although amendments he proposed were battered down in a series of votes. The Russian explained that the American proposal appeared to be satisfactory to the parties concerned.

Old suggestions of withdrawing forces or putting physical barriers along demarcation lines are to be explored again.

Hammarskjold must conduct his talks within the framework of the existing Israeli-Arab armistice agreements and both sides must agree on any steps he recommends before they can be put into effect.

Eaton Implement Dealer Accused In Swindle Scheme

EATON (AP)—Preliminary Prosecutor Everett Fahrenholz said today he would charge farm implement dealer George Martin of Eaton with embezzling several thousand dollars in what he termed mortgage-swindle schemes.

Authorities are seeking the 58-year-old Martin. Mrs. Martin said her husband left home March 26, saying he would not be back.

Fahrenholz said the schemes Martin is accused of using operated this way:

The dealer would sell a piece of farm equipment to a farmer on terms, and would sell the mortgage to a finance firm. Martin would then get the farmer to sign additional notes, sometimes on blank forms, which Martin would sell to other finance firms.

Sellout Of GIs Under Fire By Ohio Solon

DALLAS (AP)—Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) said today there had been "a sellout of American servicemen" under terms of the NATO "Status of Forces" treaty.

Bow was in Dallas for the three-day convention of the Congress of Freedom, which last year urged the United States to withdraw from the United Nations.

"Diplomacy based on appeasement and an inferiority complex had produced a sellout of American servicemen as well as American dollars and American resources to doubtful allies in every section of the world," Bow said.

Bow said more than 10,000 American servicemen have been arrested by foreign police and 80 still are serving sentences of foreign courts under treaty terms.

"Not content with the giveaway of 105 billions through the 16-year succession of foreign aid programs, our State Department has committed us to surrender of the constitutional rights of our men," Bow declared.

"The NATO Status of Forces Treaty transfers jurisdiction over American soldiers from their rightful commanders to the whims and doubtful mercy of foreign police in almost 70 different nations of the world."

Explanations Are Repeated at Joint Meeting

City School Board Accepts Invitation Of Miami Trace Board

The Washington C. H. school board Wednesday night accepted an invitation to an informal joint meeting with the Miami Trace board in the MT offices at the Wilson School.

Most of the meeting was devoted to a repetition of the city board's explanation of why it had closed the doors of Washington C. H. High School to some 230 tuition pupils from the Miami Trace district.

President Robert Terhune of the city board repeated explanations that had been made at a meeting in the Washington C. H. High School on March 24.

At that meeting, the city board told parents of the tuition students that the youngsters from the Miami Trace district could no longer be accepted because of space limitations at the high school.

The problem of space became acute with the failure of a proposed territory transfer. That transfer would have taken a belt of land surrounding the city out of the Miami Trace district and made it a part of the city district, it was explained.

The transfer had been agreed upon by the city and Miami Trace boards and approved by the County School Board when remonstrance petitions from residents of the territory blocked the move.

WHEN TERHUNE completed his explanation, Taylor Groff, president of the Miami Trace Board, asked why the city board had not said it would close the doors of the high school if the transfer did not go through.

Terhune explained that the city board "does not believe in threats" and had not expected the transfer to fail anyway. "We felt you were sincere," he added, "but you were overpowered."

The members of the Miami Trace board pointed out that nothing in the transfer agreement stated that elementary pupils from the city would go to county grade schools.

Terhune said later that while no formal agreement had been put down on paper regarding the interchange of students (sending some from the city to the Miami Trace schools), the city board was discussing the possibilities in good faith and was confident the Miami Trace boards would cooperate on a mutual problem. Terhune commented that there were many other details that would have had to be worked out also.

Groff said the city board had told the Miami Trace board that it had no money to pay tuition of grade school students. He said he could not understand why failure of transfer could affect the educational load because the pupils would attend the same schools they had in the past.

At the meeting were President Groff, Gordon Cowdery, Robert Owens, Richard Snider, Herbert Perrill, Supt. W. W. Boyer and Mrs. Senath Thompson, clerk, representing the Miami Trace board; and President Terhune, Elmer Reed, Charles Pinsky, Milbourne Flee, W. A. Lovell, Supt. W. A. Smith and Fred Rost, clerk, representing the city board.

New Minister Arrives At Grace Church Here

Rev. Lloyd J. Poe and Mrs. Audra Poe are now residents of Washington C. H. Their furniture was moved into the Grace Methodist Church parsonage Thursday morning. . . and the rest of the day they were busy getting things in shape to spend their first night in their new home.

Rev. Poe is the new pastor of Grace Church and will deliver his first sermon there next Sunday morning. He succeeds Rev. Clinton Swengel, who left about a month ago to take a new assignment as assistant pastor of the Methodist Church in Fullerton, Calif. Rev. and Mrs. Poe came here from Pleasant Ridge, a Cincinnati suburb, where he was pastor of the Methodist Church for the last eight years.

More Polio Shots To Be Given Here

Shots of Salk polio vaccine supplied by the federal government will be available on a "first come, first served" basis to about 900 Fayette County children next Wednesday.

The vaccine will be administered to children from 1 to 10 years of age by "about 15" family doctors in Washington C. H., said Dr. Joseph Herbert of the Fayette County Board of Health and Dr. Benton V. D. Scott, county health commissioner.

In a joint statement, the two physicians announced that the vaccine, purchased from $30,000,000 voted by Congress for the purpose, was now available here.

In authorizing the purchase of the vaccine, Congress barred use of the vaccine for third shots thus limiting each patient to two injections of the polio-fighting vaccine.

The two-injection schedule is the one recommended by Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine.

THE VACCINE will treat about 30 percent of the county's children in the age group from 1 to 10, according to estimates by Dr. Herbert and Dr. Scott.

Also eligible for the shots are expectant mothers whose children are due during or after polio season reaches its height.

The physicians explained that plans for distribution of the vaccine were worked out by Dr. Scott and a committee of members of the Fayette County Medical Society.

The available methods included (1) giving shots in special clinics like those set up at the schools to administer vaccine donated by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis or (2) distributing the vaccine to family doctors and allowing them to give the shots.

The second method was adopted, they said, because the first would present the problem of selecting which children were to receive shots and which were not.

Congress's appropriation for the vaccine, they said, provided that no "means test" could be used to select children who would get the vaccine. That is, the vaccine could not be distributed only to those children who could not otherwise afford the shots.

So, the doctors said, the second method was chosen—administering the shots in family doctors' offices on a "first come, first served" basis.

THEY EXPLAINED that a charge would be made for administering the vaccine, but that the vaccine itself was free. No schedule of fees for administering the shots was agreed upon.

Dr. Herbert estimated that this program would bring the total of children who have received shots here to about 76 percent of the age group from 1 to 10.

This program will take care of

New Violence Erupting In Holy Land

Hammarskjold to Leave Tomorrow To Seek Israeli-Arab Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold today prepared to leave on a new peace mission to the Middle East at a time when more violence erupted in the Holy Land.

Armed with unanimous authorization from the Security Council, Hammarskjold plans to leave tomorrow to investigate the causes of tension along the Israeli-Arab borders.

He is to report back to the Security Council within a month with measures to calm down Israel and her Arab neighbors.

New violence on the Israeli-Egyptian frontier underlined the urgency of Hammarskjold's task.

Israel claimed an Egyptian patrol attacked Israeli troops near the Gaza Strip border, killing three Israeli soldiers in a four-hour exchange. The Egyptians said the Israelis opened fire first and killed an Arab Palestinian soldier.

In Damascus, a usually reliable source reported the Soviet Union has promised Israel's Arab neighbors sufficient military, political and financial aid if Western military intervention in the Middle East develops.

THE UNITED States, Britain and France in recent months have repeatedly cited their 1956 pledge to prevent any change in Israel's frontier by force.

En route to the Middle East, the secretary general planned to fly by way of London and Paris to consult with Foreign Office experts on arms sales questions and other problems.

He told the council yesterday, after it adopted the U.S. resolution to send him back to the Middle East, that he shared world concern over the dangers in Palestine area.

He visited the area in January and discussed the situation then with Israeli and Arab leaders. On his return he told newsmen he was optimistic that developments would avert war.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. chief delegate and council president for April, voiced the council's confidence in the secretary general and its good wishes. Israeli and Arab spokesmen had previously promised cooperation with the mission.

Soviet Delegate Arkady Sobolev went along with the rest of the council in voting for the U.S. resolution, although amendments he proposed were battered down in a series of votes. The Russian explained that the American proposal appeared to be satisfactory to the parties concerned.

Old suggestions of withdrawing forces or putting physical barriers along demarcation lines are to be explored again.

Hammarskjold must conduct his talks within the framework of the existing Israeli-Arab armistice agreements and both sides must agree on any steps he recommends before they can be put into effect.

Measles Taking Big Toll, Claim

CLEVELAND (AP)—Arthur J. Pearce, health commissioner of Cuyahoga County, said yesterday this is an "epidemic year" for measles for children in the first three years of school.

W. H. Willis, Lake County health commissioner, said absenteeism for children in the first three grades was 10 percent compared with the usual 2 or 3 percent because of measles.

Woman Injured By Head Of Elk

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Bessie Lee Robinson, 22, filed a $25,000 damage suit here yesterday, claiming she was injured by a stuffed elk's head.

She said the elk's head fell on her last February as she walked into the Grace Cleaners knocking her out.

5 Boxcars Upset

BELLEFONTAINE (AP)—Five boxcars overturned in the New York Central yards here blocking the enginehouse area, but officials expected to have the tracks cleared by noon.

6 Firemen Die While Battling Bronx Blaze

13 Others Injured
As Factory's Brick
Wall Sways, Tumbles

NEW YORK (AP)—A wall collapsed during a roaring blaze which gutted a Bronx factory building last night. Six firemen were crushed to death and 13 others were injured.

Fire Commissioner Edward Cavanaugh Jr., struck by a flying brick, saw six of his men buried under an avalanche of debris. Five died as they reached a hospital. The sixth man died a few minutes later.

The five-alarm blaze broke out shortly after 8 p. m. in the basement of a one-story, 40-by-80-foot brick structure occupied by an artificial flower manufacturing firm. Firemen fought for 34 hours to put it out.

The crashing wall cut power lines and snuffed out street lights. Some 60 firemen battled on in darkness and choking smoke.

Cavanaugh, saying the fire took the worst toll of lives in the department in 24 years, ordered an immediate investigation.

FIREMEN WERE scrambling up half a dozen ladders hoisted against the 25-foot-high roof when someone yelled "Watch it!"

A 20-by-15-foot marquee on the building, which used to house a movie theater, suddenly ripped clear and brought a large section of the wall with it. Then the entire front wall went down.

Ladders were heaved outward as the marquee gave way. Some firemen were thrown to comparative safety or jumped clear.

Fireman Joseph O'Keefe said he was 15 feet up a ladder when he heard a warning cry. He looked down, saw the wall sway, and his ladder was tossed outward.

O'Keefe was flung clear, suffering only foot and face injuries. But Fireman William Hool, an 47, and Arthur Hanson, 35, below him on the ladder, were crushed to death by falling masonry.

Others killed were Lt. John F. Molloy, 44, and firemen Edward J. Carroll, 41, Frederick J. Heilauer, 38, and Charles J. Infantino, 45.

Eight men, including Antonio Petronelli, acting chief of the city's fire department, were taken to hospitals suffering from broken bones, lacerations, bruises and smoke poisoning. All were termed in fair condition.

Five other firemen were hurt and treated at the scene. Petronelli, though injured, supervised the search of rubble for other possible victims. Later he was taken to a hospital, where it was learned he had a broken leg.

Wilmington Band Takes Second Place

Wilmington High School's marching band, which has paraded many times on the football field at Gardner Park here and before hundreds of Washington C. H. fans, today holds the distinction of being the next-to-best high school band in the Cherry Blossom Festival of School Bands in Washington D. C.

First place in the competition went to the Charlotte, Mich., High School band, which scored 830 points out of a possible 1,000.

Close behind in second place was the Wilmington Band, which scored 840 points, only 10 points less than the winner.

The Sumter, S. C., High School was third with 730 points.

The band festival was held Wednesday. It marked the high point in the Wilmington band's expedition to the nation's capital, although the schedule called for visits to some of the historic and interesting places before it started back home.

6 Firemen Die While Battling Bronx Blaze

13 Others Injured
As Factory's Brick
Wall Sways, Tumbles

NEW YORK (AP)—A wall collapsed during a roaring blaze which gutted a Bronx factory building last night. Six firemen were crushed to death and 13 others were injured.

Fire Commissioner Edward Cavanagh Jr., struck by a flying brick, saw six of his men buried under an avalanche of debris. Five died as they reached a hospital. The sixth man died a few minutes later.

The five-alarm blaze broke out shortly after 8 p. m. in the basement of a one-story, 40-by-80-foot brick structure occupied by an artificial flower manufacturing firm. Firemen fought for 3 1/2 hours to put it out.

The crashing wall cut power lines and snuffed out street lights. Some 60 firemen battled on in darkness and choking smoke.

Cavanagh, saying the fire took the worst toll of lives in the department in 24 years, ordered an immediate investigation.

FIREMEN WERE scrambling up half a dozen ladders hoisted against the 25-foot-high roof when someone yelled "Watch it!"

A 20-by-15-foot marquee on the building, which used to house a movie theater, suddenly ripped clear and brought a large section of the wall with it. The entire front wall went down.

Ladders were heaved outward as the marquee gave way. Some firemen were thrown to comparative safety or jumped clear.

Fireman Joseph O'Keefe said he was 15 feet up a ladder when he heard a warning cry. He looked down, saw the wall away, and his ladder was tossed outward.

O'Keefe was flung clear, suffering only foot and face injuries. But Fireman William Hoolan, 47, and Arthur Hanson, 35, below him on the ladder, were crushed to death by falling masonry.

Others killed were Lt. John F. Molloy, 44, and firemen Edward J. Carroll, 41, Frederick J. Helauer, 38, and Charles J. Infosino, 45.

Eight men, including Antonio Petronelli, acting chief of the city's fire department, were taken to hospitals suffering from broken bones, lacerations, bruises and smoke poisoning. All were termed in fair condition.

Five other firemen were hurt and treated at the scene. Petronelli, though injured, supervised the search of rubble for other possible victims. Later he was taken to a hospital, where it was learned he had a broken leg.

Arbor Day Set For April 27

"I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully defend from waste, the natural resources of my country—its soil and minerals, its forests, waters and wildlife."

April is being observed in Ohio as Conservation Month.

Wilmington Band Takes Second Place

Wilmington High School's marching band, which has paraded many times on the football field at Gardner Park here and before hundreds of Washington C. H. fans, today holds the distinction of being the next-to-best high school band in the Cherry Blossom Festival of School Bands in Washington D. C.

First place in the competition went to the Charlotte, Mich., High School band, which scored 850 points out of a possible 1,000.

Close behind in second place was the Wilmington Band, which scored 840 points, only 10 points less than the winner.

The Sumter, S. C., High School was third with 730 points.

The band festival was held Wednesday. It marked the high point in the Wilmington band's expedition to the nation's capital, although the schedule called for visits to some of the historic and interesting places before it started back home.

The Value Of People Being Fully Informed

Community after community in our country has witnessed what can happen when the people become better informed as to what their officials are doing.

There was a time many years ago when a questionable, sometimes shady public official, or selfish propagandists, or tyrants who sought to dominate to suit their own fancy, could peddle their wares of discord and animosity without the people knowing what was in the air. Shocking situations could go on undetected for long periods of time.

A poorly informed citizenry had no way of correcting situations that were generally unknown. As a result the people suffered in one way or another.

Then a marked change began. People found a way to become informed. Unscrupulous officials were unveiled. The public began to learn both sides of a situation or issue; they learned to use this information, to weigh it, study it and to reach an unbiased opinion which sometimes lead to action to right a wrong or to engage in a program of activity which brought about a healthier condition for the benefit of all concerned.

Under such conditions the freedom our forefathers fought for began to take on a more genuine meaning in the light of information brought to their attention. They began making their own decisions based upon free, straight-forward thinking.

A big factor in all this was when mass media of dispensing such information was introduced. Newspapers, determined to print the facts, became available in homes, large and small, throughout the land. The people could read these facts and learn what was going on. The official who had maneuvered behind a wall of ignorance, misrepresentation by word of mouth, or a complacency through lack of an uninformed public, no longer had a place to hide.

Since the widespread growth of newspapers it also has become generally recognized that they cover the facts very accurately when unmasking some of the individuals whose devious methods against the public good are investigated and brought into the spotlight of publicity.

There are times however when lack of interest on the part of the reading public has been to blame for a large part of the people's lack of knowledge and interest in any case at hand, rather than failure on the part of newspapers or other media to expose the facts. This often means that there is long delay before the public awakens to the situation and begins to act in a way to get results.

As mass newspaper circulation increased, and as radio, and later television, and other media began to make itself felt, public independence increased. The power of the ballot also began to grow along with the voters' enlightenment.

Throughout the nations, with fearless and independent newspapers attaining their millions of circulation, it is doubtful if any huge scandal such as has happened in the years of long ago, could be successfully perpetrated.

Such a thing could be advocated, even signed and approved by officials, but once the facts are brought to light, rank injustice, large or small never succeed for any great length of time, when the people learn all the facts and the reasons for such an act.

Today people everywhere are becoming better informed and this is the best thing for advancement of public welfare.

Island-Buying Fever Cools

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Have you been putting off buying an island for one reason or another?

Frankly, like a lot of other people, I have.

But on a vacation visit to these "Isles of June" I decided to look into the matter.

There was a kind of urgency about it. Next year comes my 20th wedding anniversary, and I have been racking my brain over what kind of present to give my wife to celebrate the event.

But what can you give a woman who already has a vacuum cleaner, an air-conditioning machine, a TV set and an electric dish washer? Obviously the only things left to give her are a kind word or an island.

"If you buy me an island," said Frances when I brought up the subject, "just be sure it has a big tree on it so I can tie you to it and know where you are."

I went into a real estate office here and a man named Ed Brownrigg filled me in on the situation.

Of the nearly 3,000 islands in the Bahamas he had seen two score on the market. Unfortunately, my first choice, San Salvador, the first spot of land sighted by Christopher Columbus in 1492, wasn't for sale.

"There has been a greatly increased interest in island buying since the war, particularly among Americans," said Brownrigg. "What do you have in mind?"

"Oh, just something adequate, nothing ostentatious," I told him.

"Well, there's Darby Island," he said. "About 400 acres, good house, a coconut grove, fine harbor facilities. A really splendid buy—only $200,000."

"Thinking it over," I replied.

"It sounds just a wee bit ostentatious."

"How about Pigeon Cay or Vigilant Cay? They're about three acres each, and priced around $4,500."

"Wonderful!" I murmured. "I could settle on an island like that and live off the fat of the land forever."

"Of course, you'd have to build a house first," said Brownrigg.

"I would?"

"And of course you'd have to have a yacht?"

"I would?"

"Oh, my yes. You can't just start from scratch, you know. It takes a bit of wealth."

My dreams of owning an island paradise went glimmering. A yacht? And me with barely enough in the bank to make a down payment on a rowboat?

"What is the very cheapest island you have?" I asked desperately.

"Let me see, there's Can Cay—it's a mere $1,800."

"Well, well, now we're really getting some place. How big is it?"

"It's about 200 by 300 feet."

"Did you say feet?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why there wouldn't be room to swing a cat around on an island that size?"

"There aren't any cats there," said Brownrigg. "But it isn't too remote. You have television."

That gave me the out I was looking for.

"My whole purpose in wanting an island was to get away from it all," I said, with great dignity. "I'm afraid you don't have quite what I had in mind."

If I have to live on an island that can be reached by television, well, make me Manhattan.

New Amendment Of Sen. Bricker

It is impossible to kill an issue in a free society if enough people believe in it. The Bricker Amendment was desired by a large body of Americans, particularly by Republicans, and it would have passed in the Senate but for one vote that Senator Homer Ferguson, who had favored the Bricker Amendment but voted against it to please the White House. He was thereupon defeated in the next election in his home state and was appointed not to the Supreme Court, as he and his friends expected he would be, but to an ambassadorship to the Philippine Islands which is about as unsatisfactory a post as an ungrateful government could give one who served it.

Now the Bricker Amendment has come up in a revised form, the revision being made by Senator Dirksen of Illinois who is very good at compromises. His revision is apparently satisfactory to Senator Bricker although the White House has not yet approved of it, such approval not being necessary in advance of a Congressional action. The new version of the Amendment reads:

"A provision of a treaty or other international agreement which conflicts with any provision of the Constitution shall not be of any force or effect."

That is simple enough and ought to throw all sorts of executive agreements into the Supreme Court for decision, but as Senator Jenner said:

"I don't think this amendment, or any amendment, can bar mistakes in judgment in foreign policy by either the President or the Senate. Recognition of Soviet Russia by President Roosevelt was put through as an executive agreement, during a recess of Congress, but the Senate could have challenged this action in the following session."

This the Senate did not do although the recognition was effected by nothing more than an exchange of letters with Maxim Litvinov.

Everything depends upon how rigidly a president adheres to the Constitution. Some presidents have expanded executive power; some have recognized every constitutional limitation upon executive power. Often, most often, it is impossible to undo by Congressional decision an action taken by the executive unconstitutionally because an historical chain of events, once initiated, moves at a terrific pace. For instance, it can be argued with whatever vehemence that Franklin D. Roosevelt committed his country to outrageous conduct at Teheran and Yalta, but no anger will return to the Polish people, to take two examples, their independence, or to the people of Latvia or Lithuania, their country.

The value of this amendment to the Constitution is that it does not make outrageous, immoral or insane conduct binding upon the United States and it will caution other nations from entering upon agreements with American executives without a full investigation into the constitutionality of the agreement. Also, the peril of having a court action develop out of an executive agreement would be before officials constantly.

For instance under this amendment, it would be impossible for the United Nations, in the guise of defending human rights, to abolish freedom of the press by making it unlawful to tell the truth about the ruler of a foreign country, such things, for example, as Khrushchev now says about Stalin and which some of have been telling our readers for 30 years. Or, it would be impossible, under such an amendment, for the United Nations, under the guise of a genocide agreement, to instruct American citizens in Alabama or Virginia how to live. The genocide agreement would make it possible for Soviet Russia, which tolerates slave labor, to introduce a resolution for an investigation of the city of Montgomery, Alabama where there is no slave labor but where there is a racial boycott. Under the Bricker Amendments in the old form or the new, Montgomery could tell the United Nations that what our federal government cannot do under the Constitution, the United Nations cannot do because of our Constitution.

We need some kind of clarification of presidential powers because presidents have evaded the constitutional interdict that treaties must be ratified by the Senate. When the Yalta papers were partially published, enough information came to hand to be convincing that Franklin D. Roosevelt exceeded his authority, and if he could do that any president can do it, to the detriment of the country. Therefore an amendment to the Constitution is needed and the Dirksen revision of the Bricker Amendment seems to fill the bill.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Cardiac surgeons are constantly seeking better ways of performing heart operations.

For example, a team of British doctors has come up with the idea of stopping the heart—deliberately—to permit safer and easier surgery. And American doctors have developed a variety of ingenious procedures which permit operations under direct vision inside the heart!

However, none has come into regular use.

Circulatory System

There's a danger of introducing air into the circulatory system through the bloodless but still beating heart. And with some other techniques there is a danger of the heart stopping.

One of the most frequent causes of cardiac arrest is ventricular fibrillation, a disorganized beating of the heart. While this can occur during a variety of operations, it is most likely to happen in hypothermia, an artificial lowering of the body temperature to aid in surgery.

Dr. D. G. Melrose and colleagues at the Post Graduate Medical School of London and Charing Cross Hospital Medical School hope to eliminate this danger by halting the heartbeat.

If their plan is feasible, this daring scheme would give the cardiac surgeon an ideal situation—a heart that remains bloodless, open and quiet throughout the operation.

Using potassium citrate to stop the heartbeat, the British surgeons have performed experiments on dogs and with isolated heart preparations from dogs, cats, rabbits and guinea pigs.

For best results in restarting the heart, they used fresh potassium citrate—free blood. An electric shock was needed to renew the heartbeat in only one instance.

While the heart was stopped, the brain and other vital centers were protected by blood circulated by a heart-lung machine. Even after the heart had been stopped as long as 35 minutes, the doctors report good recoveries.

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Secretary of State Dulles, in talking about the Russians' switch to a softer line, sometimes sounds as if he had just been reading George Kennan, it is an oblique tribute to former President Truman.

Dulles seldom pays any direct tribute to Truman. He almost never mentions him. But he says the Russians have been forced to change their tactics by the U.S. policy of foreign aid and military alliances.

This policy was laid down by Truman. It is largely followed by the Eisenhower administration. This is flattering to Truman, as he acknowledged this week, and it might seem enough to make him content.

But it doesn't. What he prefers, he said, is for the Eisenhower administration to come up with some new program to meet changing conditions because the times call for it.

Kennan was the State Department's top expert on Russia and director of its policy planning staff when the cold war was starting in 1947. That was the year Truman began the foreign aid program which President Eisenhower continues.

Kennan has been credited with thinking up the idea which became U.S. policy. It's been called "containment." The idea was simple enough: stop Russian expansion by building a ring of military alliances around the Soviets. Eisenhower and Dulles have continued and increased the military alliances begun by Truman.

Writing in the magazine Foreign Affairs in 1947, Kennan stated the policy:

"The main element of any United States policy toward the Soviet Union must be that of a long-term, patient but firm and vigilant containment of Russian expansive tendencies."

Although in the 1952 presidential campaign Dulles criticized mere "containment" as futile, the day after election he reassured

"our friends abroad who will fear lest our foreign policies change."

Dulles not only didn't change those policies, he pursued them.

Kennan, predicting in his 1947 magazine piece what containment would accomplish, said: "... The United States has it in its power to increase enormously the strains under which Soviet policy must operate, to force upon the Kremlin a far greater degree of moderation and circumspection..."

Last Feb. 26 Dulles said there had been a "notable" shift in Soviet foreign policy because the Russians "have been thwarted by the free world." He called the military alliances heavy pressure on the Soviets.

On Feb. 24 he said Russian policies of intolerance and violence "have gradually ceased to produce results..." The free nations have banded together. ... The result is that they (the Russians) have got to revamp their whole creed from A to Z."

At times Dulles doesn't seem sure whether the Russians are revamping "their whole creed from A to Z" or whether they are just shifting their tactics because they think they can catch more flies with molasses than with Stalin's vinegar.

On April 3 Dulles said: "... Insofar as I am aware, the Soviets, while they have attempted to disavow much of Stalin's program and many of his acts, have not themselves come up with any substitute..."

"The downgrading of Stalin does not of itself demonstrate that the Soviet regime has basically changed its foreign or domestic policies."

Oscar-Winning Star Recalls Old Days And Old Teacher

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Jo Van Fleet received the supporting actress Oscar from Edmond O'Brien, it was a special thrill for her.

She remembered back to her days as a struggling actress, when there was more struggle than acting. One of the jobs she took to tide her over between acting jobs was theater ushering. She ushered for a wartime show "Winged Victory," and one of the stars was Edmond O'Brien.

Miss Van Fleet, who struggled for 10 years with little success, remembered a lot of people who have helped her along the way.

The person who really started her was DeMarcus Brown, drama teacher at College of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif. When she attended the college, he urged her to try her luck in New York.

"At that time, New York seemed like another world to me," the Oakland-born actress recalls.

"But he kept at me until he convinced me to go."

After she won the Academy Award, she telephoned her former teacher to offer her thanks for his help. "This," he said through his tears, "makes up for whatever disappointments I may have had in the teaching profession."

Miss Van Fleet admitted the list of all of those who have helped her along the way would be a long one. Principal among them are Director Ella Kazan and Producer Cheryl Crawford, "who game me what I needed when I was at my low points — not money, but hope."

During those lean periods, she worked as receptionist, usher, office worker, even behind a soda fountain. And she taught at the neighborhood playhouse, where she studied when she first went to New York.

It was Kazan who selected her for "East of Eden," her first film and the Oscar winner for her.

"The people out here decided I looked too young for the role," she said. "So Gordon Bowe of the make-up department — another person I have to thank — took a blowup from the test and devised a new make-up to make me look older."

"So I got the part. It usually happens that whatever Kazan wants, he gets."

The Value Of People Being Fully Informed

Community after community in our country has witnessed what can happen when the people become better informed as to what their officials are doing.

There was a time many years ago when a questionable, sometimes shady public official, or selfish propagandist, or tyrant who sought to dominate to suit their own fancy, could peddle their wares of discord and animosity without the people knowing what was in the air. Shocking situations could go on undetected for long periods of time.

A poorly informed citizenry had no way of correcting situations that were generally unknown. As a result the people suffered in one way or another.

Then a marked change began. People found a way to become informed. Unscrupulous officials were unveiled. The public began to learn both sides of a situation or issue; they learned to use this information, to weigh it, study it and to reach an unbiased opinion which sometimes lead to action to right a wrong or to engage in a program of activity which brought about a healthier condition for the benefit of all concerned.

Under such conditions the freedom our forefathers fought for began to take on a more genuine meaning in the light of information brought to their attention. They began making their own decisions based upon free, straight-forward thinking.

A big factor in all this was when mass media of dispensing such information was introduced. Newspapers, determined to print the facts, became available in homes, large and small, throughout the land. The people could read these facts and learn what was going on. Since the widespread growth of newspapers it also has become generally recognized that they cover the facts very accurately when unmasking some of the individuals whose devious methods against the public good are investigated and brought into the spotlight of publicity.

There are times however when lack of interest on the part of the reading public has been to blame for a large part of the people's lack of knowledge and interest in any case at hand, rather than failure on the part of newspapers or other media to expose the facts. This often means that there is long delay before the public awakens to the situation and begins to act in a way to get results.

It is impossible to kill an issue in a free society if enough people believe in it. His revision is apparently satisfactory to Senator Bricker although the White House has not yet approved of it, such approval not being necessary in advance of a Congressional action. The new version of the Amendment reads:

"A provision of a treaty or other international agreement which conflicts with any provision of the Constitution shall not be of any force or effect."

That is simple enough and ought to throw all sorts of executive agreements into the Supreme Court for decision, but as Senator Jenner said:

"I don't think this amendment,

or any amendment can bar mistakes in judgment in foreign policy by either the President or the Senate. Recognition of Soviet Russia by President Roosevelt was put through as an executive agreement, during a recess of Congress, but the Senate could have challenged this action in the following session."

This the Senate did not do although the recognition was effected by nothing more than an exchange of letters with Maxim Litvinov.

Everything depends upon how rigidly a president adheres to the Constitution. Some presidents have expanded executive power; some have recognized every constitutional limitation upon executive power. Often, most often, it is impossible to undo by Congressional decision an action taken by the executive unconstitutional because an historical chain of events, once initiated, moves at a terrific pace. For instance, it can be argued with whatever vehemence that Franklin D. Also, the peril of having a court action develop out of an executive agreement would be before officials constantly.

For instance under this amendment, it would be impossible for the United Nations, in the guise of defending human rights, to abolish freedom of the press by making it unlawful to tell the truth about the ruler of a foreign country, such things, for example, as Khrushchev now says about Stalin and which some of have been telling our readers for 30 years. Or, it would be impossible, under such an amendment, for the United Nations, under the guise of a genocide agreement, to instruct American citizens in Alabama or Virginia how to live. The genocide agreement would make it possible for Soviet Russia, which tolerates slave labor, to introduce a resolution for an investigation of the city of Montgomery, Alabama where there is no slave labor but where there is a racial boycott. Under the Bricker Amendments, in the old form or the new, Montgomery could tell the United Nations that what our federal government cannot do under the Constitution, the United Nations cannot do because of our Constitution.

We need some kind of clarification of presidential powers because presidents have evaded the constitutional interdiction that treaties must be ratified by the Senate. When the Yalta papers were partially published, enough information came to hand to be convincing that Franklin D. Roosevelt exceeded his authority, and if he could do that any president can do it, to the detriment of the country. Therefore an amendment to the Constitution is needed and the Dirksen revision of the Bricker Amendment seems to fill the bill.

Kennan has been credited with thinking up the idea which became U.S. policy. It's been called "containment." The idea was simple enough: stop Russian expansion by building a ring of military alliances around the Soviets. Eisenhower and Dulles have continued and increased the military alliances begun by Truman.

Writing in the magazine Foreign Affairs in 1947, Kennan stated the policy:

"The main element of any United States policy toward the Soviet Union must be that of a long-term, patient but firm and vigilant campaign Dulles criticized mere 'containment' as futile, the day after election he reassured

"our friends abroad who will fear lest our foreign policies change."

Dulles not only didn't change those policies, he pursued them.

Kennan, predicting in his 1947 magazine piece what containment would accomplish, said: "... The United States has it in its power to increase enormously the strains under which Soviet policy must operate, to force upon the Kremlin a far greater degree of moderation and circumspection. ..."

Last Feb. 26 Dulles said there had been a "notable" shift in Soviet foreign policy because the Russians "have been thwarted by the free world." He called the military alliances heavy pressure on the Soviets.

On Feb. 24 he said Russian policies of intolerance and violence "have gradually ceased to produce results. ... The free nations have banded together. ... The result is that they (the Russians) have got to revamp their whole creed from A to Z."

At times Dulles doesn't seem sure whether the Russians are revamping "their whole creed from A to Z" or whether they are just shifting their tactics because they think they can catch more flies with molasses than with Stalin's vinegar.

On April 3 Dulles said: "... Insofar as I am aware, the Soviets, while they have attempted to disavow much of Stalin's program and many of his acts, have not themselves come up with any substitute. ..."

"The downgrading of Stalin does not of itself demonstrate that the Soviet regime has basically changed its foreign or domestic policies."

Oscar-Winning Star Recalls Old Days And Old Teacher

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When Jo Van Fleet received the supporting actress Oscar from Edmond O'Brien, it was a special thrill for her.

She remembered back to her days as a struggling actress, when there was more struggle than acting. One of the jobs she took to tide her over between acting jobs was theater ushering. She ushered for a wartime show, "Winged Victory," and one of the stars was Edmond O'Brien.

Miss Van Fleet, who struggled for 10 years with little success, remembered a lot of people who have helped her along the way. The person who really started her was DeMarcus Brown, drama teacher at College of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif. When she attended the college, he urged her to try her luck in New York.

"At that time, New York seemed like another world to me," the Oakland-born actress recalls.

"But he kept at me until he convinced me to go."

After she won the Academy Award, she telephoned her former teacher to offer her thanks for his help. "This," he said through his tears, "makes up for what-ever disappointments I may have had in the teaching profession."

Miss Van Fleet admitted the list of all of those who have helped her along the way would be a long one. Principal among them are Director Elia Kazan and Producer Cheryl Crawford, "who gave me what I needed when I was at my low points — not money, but hope."

During those lean periods, she worked as receptionist, usher, office worker, even behind a soda fountain. And she taught at the neighborhood playhouse, where she studied when she first went to New York.

It was Kazan who selected her for "East of Eden," her first film and the Oscar winner for her.

"The people out here decided I looked too young for the role," she said. "So Gordon Bowe of the make-up department — another person I have to thank — took a blowup from the test and devised a new make-up to make me look older."

"So I got the part. It usually happens that whatever Kazan wants, he gets."

Plan Large Lake In Greene County

Plans for a state lake of 200 acres, to be located in New Jasper and Silvercreek townships in Greene County, are being formulated.

A committee is in charge of the project, and indications are that less than a half dozen landowners will be affected by the water impounded to form the lake.

The body of water will be chiefly for recreational purposes, it is announced.

Maryland Democrat Chief Beats Drum For Symington

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Maryland drive for Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for the Democratic presidential nomination will be touched off by the front runners come to a stalemate.

Peppery Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore, the state's Democratic national committee man, is spearheading an "Are you for Stu?" move.

Nothing may come of it if Adlai Stevenson or Estes Kefauver gets so far out ahead as to be assured of the nomination.

But if a deadlock develops, D'Alesandro expects to be in the forefront in pressing for Symington, a former Maryland resident who already has been endorsed by the Missouri Democratic Committee.

"I have a feeling in my bones that Symington is going to be the nominee," D'Alesandro told a reporter.

Symington has said he is not a candidate, but D'Alesandro contends there is considerable quiet sentiment for him. The mayor argues also that the senator is

Memories

By JACOB MILLER

The early pioneers, had many serious problems one of which was the stealing of their children by Indians or Gypsies.

I remember, when I was a child, my parents told me stories about Gypsies, stealing children as they made their way across the country and another, was their everlasting purloining of livestock, another racket was telling fortunes.

A gaudy dressed woman would sometimes find the man of the house out in his yard and she would force her fortune-telling tricks on the countryman and usually wound up by picking his pocket, which he discovered when the wily Gypsies were far on their way. By the time he rounded up the sheriff the Gypsies were over in the next county.

Once in awhile, a child would stray away into the dense forests and sometimes they would never be heard of again. The following tale actually happened in Clermont County near Williamsburg, Ohio, July 13 1804. Lydia Osborne, aged 11 years and Matilda Osborne, aged 7 years, were bringing the cows home out of the woods to be milked one evening and somehow they became separated. The younger child waited a long time, and she called and called, "Lyda, Lyda," finally she went weeping to her parents.

Night came on and the other girl Lyda, failed to return. The neighborhood was aroused with the alarm about the lost child. Bells were rung, horns were blown and guns were fired hoping the sounds would reach the child. The search continued. Signs of her tracks were discovered crossing miry places, however her tracks were going farther into the wilderness.

On the third day, a famous tracker named Cornelius Washburn, followed by a large crowd and his faithful dog, took up the search. Washburn discovered places where she had slept for several nights. He saw where she had eaten Fox-grapes and other berries. The weary neighbors continued on until the 15th day when they found her footprints again. They seemed to be fresh and led to a large black-berry patch. Near this patch was a little house built of sticks, over which was placed bits of moss in regular layers.

In the center was a little door and in the interior was a bed made of leaves, covered with moss, and decorated with flowers. Here far away from human habitation had this child constructed this house.

Horse tracks were found all around the place and the conclusion was that she had been carried away by the Indians. Further pursuit was considered useless and the company disbanded and returned to their homes.

The father never gave up hope and in his further search he penetrated the wildest solitudes and sought her among the Indians until the day of his death. The child was never found. We today, occasionally wish for the "good old days," but the old pioneer had no "bed of roses."

the "second choice" of many now committed to other candidates and that they would jump to him if their own candidates faltered.

D'Alesandro is rated by political friends and foes alike as an astute politician. A former congressman, he has won 22 consecutive primary or election contests and never has been defeated.

Ironically for D'Alesandro, he may be forced to vote for Kefauver — on the first ballot at least — at the Democratic National Convention.

The mayor said the state's Democratic leaders had hoped the delegation would go to the national convention uninstructed, but Kefauver, filed in the May 7 primary and is unopposed.

Primary voters can choose either Kefauver, with the result binding on the delegation, or can vote for an uninstructed delegation.

An uninstructed delegation must cast at least one ballot for the primary winner and supposedly must stay with him as long as he has a reasonable chance to win. There could be disagreement on what constitutes a reasonable chance.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Howard Pyle, deputy assistant to President Eisenhower, says "the results of the election at all levels will depend on just how badly we want to win."

He urged listeners at a Young Republicans box supper to exert individual evangelistic efforts to convince the public that continuation of the Eisenhower administration would mean peace, prosperity and confidence.

Pyle, former Arizona governor, said the President is becoming slightly impatient over what he considered delays by Congress on farm, school, highway and other major programs.

TV Quiz Show Contestant Impressive To New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP) — Friends and associates of Leonard Ross back home in Toluca, Calif., will be interested in knowing he's conducting himself with dignity during his New York sojourn, winning friends and influencing some people on their investments.

Tomorrow he returns to Big Surprise (NBC-TV), where he's going for $20,000 in his effort to work to the big $100,000 question. His category is stocks and the stock exchange.

The other day he spent a while at the New York Stock Exchange, impressing officials with his wide-ranging knowledge of investments and amazing employees with his ability to read ticker symbols for scores of stocks. Then he spent a while in the financial room of the New York Public Library, where he's checking through 150 various volumes for obscure facts. No night club addict, he spends spare time scanning the financial pages of New York newspapers.

His suggestions on what to buy and what to sell are so persuasive that it probably would be unfair to the market equilibrium to report them. But the most persuasive thing about him is that he is 10 years old and hasn't the slightest inclination to seek a career in high finance.

"It's simply an interest," he says, fixing you with kindly, intelligent brown eyes and swinging small feet that fail to touch the floor. "I've been interested in investments since I was 7. My father is a CPA and has a few small investments. Listening to him talk, I became interested and began following the market."

"I'd like to go into politics," Leonard said. Under further questioning he continued, "I'm a Democrat . . . Let's say that under present circumstances I'm a Democrat . . . I'm for Stevenson."

Many Good Buys In Meat Market

Beef Prices Cut More Than On Pork

(By The Associated Press)

Weekend shoppers with a sharp eye for a bargain will find a number of meat items at special prices in various parts of the nation despite a slight rise in wholesale prices.

With the traditional Easter hams, turkeys and legs of lamb so recently on the table, housewives can turn this week to a wide variety of attractive buys.

Frying chickens will be featured at enticing prices over wide areas of the country. Rib roasts also will be on sale.

One big chain is offering beef round roast at 65 cents a pound, 10 cents lower than last week, and beef cross ribs at 65 cents, a drop of 4 cents.

Sirloin steak is now being sold at 4 to 6 cents a pound cheaper in some big population centers although the price is generally up around 4 cents in New York City.

Once more, the wholesale price for meats edged up this week. But one food chain cut the price of lamb legs 4 cents a pound to move them along, despite a steady rise in the wholesale price this month.

Pork chops were generally higher in many areas.

TV Quiz Show Contestant Impressive To New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP) — Friends and associates of Leonard Ross back home in Tujunga, Calif., will be interested in knowing he's conducting himself with dignity during his New York sojourn, winning friends and influencing some people on their investments.

Tomorrow he returns to Big Surprise (NBC-TV), where he's going for $20,000 in his effort to work to the big $100,000 question. His category is stocks and the stock exchange.

The other day he spent a while at the New York Stock Exchange, impressing officials with his wide-ranging knowledge of investments and amazing employees with his ability to read ticker symbols for scores of stocks. Then he spent a while in the financial room of the New York Public Library, where he's checking through 150 various volumes for obscure facts. No night club addict, he spends spare time scanning the financial pages of New York newspapers.

His suggestions on what to buy and what to sell are so persuasive that it probably would be unfair to the market equilibrium to report them. But the most persuasive thing about him is that he is 10 years old and hasn't the slightest inclination to seek a career in high finance.

"It's simply an interest," he says, fixing you with kindly, intelligent brown eyes and swinging small feet that fail to touch the floor. "I've been interested in investments since I was 7. My father is a CPA and has a few small investments. Listening to him talk, I became interested and began following the market."

"I'd like to go into politics," Leonard said. Under further questioning he continued, "I'm a Democrat. . . . Let's say that under present circumstances I'm a Democrat. . . . I'm for Stevenson."

Many Good Buys In Meat Market

Beef Prices Cut More Than On Pork

(By The Associated Press)

Weekend shoppers with a sharp eye for a bargain will find a number of meat items at special prices in various parts of the nation despite a slight rise in wholesale prices.

With the traditional Easter hams, turkeys and legs of lamb so recently on the table, housewives can turn this week to a wide variety of attractive buys.

Frying chickens will be featured at enticing prices over wide areas of the country. Rib roasts also will be on sale.

One big chain is offering beef round roast at 65 cents a pound, 10 cents lower than last week, and beef cross ribs at 65 cents, a drop of 4 cents.

Sirloin steak is now being sold at 4 to 6 cents a pound cheaper in some big population centers although the price is generally up around 4 cents in New York City.

Once more, the wholesale price for meats edged up this week. But one food chain cut the price of lamb legs 4 cents a pound to move them along, despite a steady rise in the wholesale price this month.

Pork chops were generally higher in many areas.

No 'Ultimate' Seen In Weapons

CLEVELAND (AP) — Brig. Gen. Jean R. Engler, one of the Army's top ordnance experts, says there was no such thing as an "ultimate" in military weapons.

Engler said the sword and body armor, considered the "ultimate" in past times, still are not obsolete in modern warfare.

He told the American Ordnance Assn. that the idea of push-button or science fiction type warfare must be discarded.

Engler, chief of the Industrial Division of the Office of the Chief of Ordnance in Washington, said the ordnance corps was "streamlining" its methods.

Memories

By JACOB MILLER

The early pioneers, had many serious problems, one of which was the stealing of their children by Indians or Gypsies.

I remember, when I was a child, my parents told me stories, about Gypsies, stealing children as they made their way across the country and another, was their everlasting purloining of livestock, another racket was telling fortunes.

A gaudy dressed woman would sometimes find the man of the house out in his yard and she would force her fortune-telling tricks on the countryman and usually wound up by picking his pocket, which he discovered when the wily Gypsies were far on their way. By the time he rounded up the sheriff the Gypsies were over in the next county.

Once in awhile, a child would stray away into the dense forests and sometimes they would never be heard of again. The following tale actually happened in Clermont County near Williamsburg, Ohio, July 13 1804. Lydia Osborne, aged 11 years and Matilda Osborne, aged 7 years, were bringing the cows home out of the woods to be milked one evening and somehow they became separated. The younger child waited a long time, and she called and called, "Lydia, Lydia," finally she went weeping to her parents.

Night came on and the other girl Lydia, failed to return. The neighborhood was aroused with the alarm about the lost child. Bells were rung, horns were blown and guns were fired hoping the sounds would reach the child. The search continued. Signs of her tracks were discovered crossing miry places, however her tracks were going farther into the wilderness.

On the third day, a famous tracker named Cornelius Washburn, followed by a large crowd and his faithful dog, took up the search. Washburn discovered places where she had slept for several nights. He saw where she had eaten Fox-grapes and other berries. The weary neighbors continued on until the 15th day when they found her footprints again. They seemed to be fresh and led to a large blackberry patch. Near this patch was a little house built of sticks, over which was placed bits of moss in regular layers.

In the center was a little door and in the interior was a bed made of leaves, covered with moss, and decorated with flowers. Here far away from human habitation had this child constructed this house.

Horse tracks were found all around the place and the conclusion was that she had been carried away by the Indians. Further pursuit was considered useless and the company disbanded and returned to their homes.

The father never gave up hope and in his further search he penetrated the wildest solitudes and sought her among the Indians until the day of his death. The child was never found. We today, occasionally wish for the "good old days," but the old pioneer had no "bed of roses."

Turnpike Chief Says Spring To Prove Project's Success

COLUMBUS (AP)—James Shockness yesterday declared that the spring upturn in traffic on the Ohio Turnpike "is going to assure our success."

The chairman of the Ohio Turnpike Commission at the same time blasted critics of the Ohio Turnpike who have called the toll road a financial failure.

Shockness said, "We are now entering the season when the turnpike's greatest use and least expense can be expected."

He said revenue during month of March was approximately 23 per cent more than February revenue.

"These figures are approximations which are likely to be within the very fair range of accuracy," Shockness declared.

"The precursors of doom can go slithering back to their caves and wait their heads off about their bad predictions. Whether malice or ignorance has prompted these predictions is of no consequence, because the turnpike is going to succeed."

Shockness reported that total revenue in March for the turnpike was an estimated $885,000, of which $758,000 represented toll revenue receipts from all classes of traffic.

Easter Sunday revenue, Shockness said, was $45,000, the highest for any single day this year. The commission chairman suggested that the commission ask the J. E. Greiner Co., consulting engineers, to consider whether any relief might be permitted at three classes of turnpike tolls.

C. H. Makeever, chairman of a committee studying toll rates for the commission, reported that a trucking industry spokesman indicated that Class 6 was a point of great irritation to the industry. Class 6 tolls cover vehicles weighing from 42,001 pounds through 55,000 pounds.

Makeever said the trucking industry had indicated relief from this toll charge would probably result in more traffic for the turnpike. Charges for the 241-mile turnpike for Class 6 vehicles are $14.50. A passenger car pays $3.

Shockness suggested the Greiner Co. be asked to advise the commission whether adjustments should be made in Classes 6, 7 or 8, all of which govern charges for heavier trucks.

The Greiner Co., Shockness said, would make such suggestions prior to the completion of the whole study of toll rates.

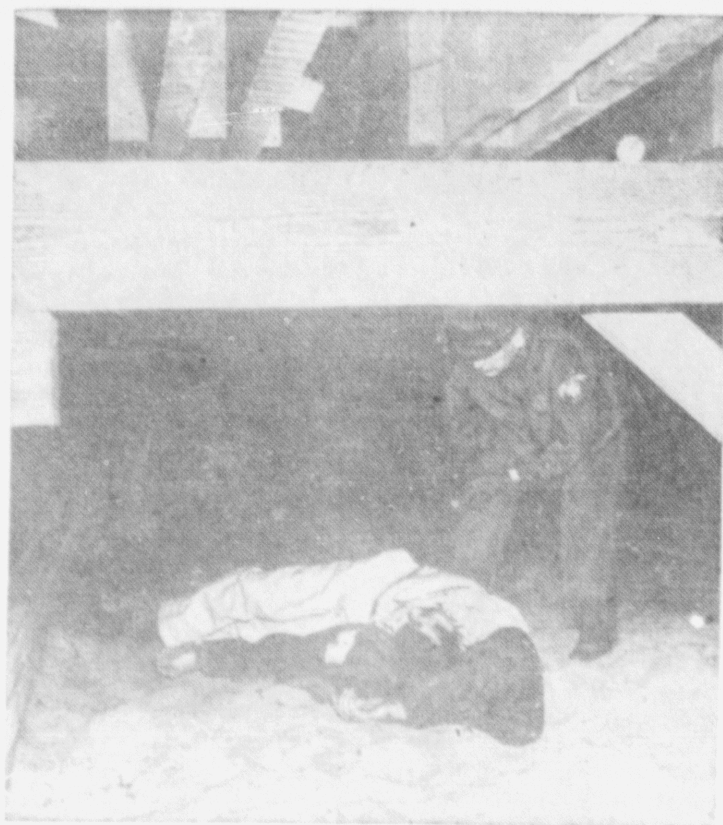

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission today adopted an emergency regulation prohibiting the use of the Ohio Turnpike by aircraft for landing purposes.

The commission said one air plane recently landed on the turnpike near Streetsboro, north of Akron, and another near Stony Ridge, southeast of Toledo.

The commission's regulation said:

"Inasmuch as aircraft have landed on the turnpike and may continue to land thereon thereby endangering property and the lives of persons thereon, said rules and regulations are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, and therefore, shall take immediate effect."

The regulation calls for a fine not more than $50 for a first violation and a fine of up to $500 for each subsequent offense.

The victim received multiple fractures, head and internal injuries and a possible broken back. (International)

Purchase Of 'Lone Ranger' Proves Gold Mine For Texan

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The buying of a man in Hollywood is a blond, 40-year-old Texan named Jack Wrather.

His specialties are oil wells and gold mines—the latter of the entertainment variety. Among his golden discoveries was that hidden horseman, The Lone Ranger.

Wrather bought the famed westerner and all his assets for three million dollars a year and a half ago. The Lone Ranger's worth is now estimated at six million—and he's still on the right side of the law.

First came oil. Lots and lots of it. Wrather went into his family's oil business after graduating from the University of Texas in 1939. He has run it since his father's death during the war.

But Wrather's interests turned to other matters, too. An old school buddy, Don Castle, became a film actor and lured Jack to Hollywood. He produced five modestly budgeted films. Some were successful, some not so.

"I came to Hollywood just at the time the bottom was dropping out of the movie market," he recalled. "Two or three of the pictures made good money, a couple didn't. But they all have turned a profit now, thanks to showings on television."

He produced a TV series, "Boss Lady," with Lynn Bari, but it had only moderate success. He decided that production wasn't for him. (He is thankful for one result—as a film producer, he met Bonita Granville, now his wife.)

He decided to use his capital for "developmental financing." That is, buying up enterprises which have not achieved their money potentialities.

Among his purchases: KOTV, Tulsa, Okla. (later sold at a handsome profit); the thriving radio station WNEW in New York; ditto KFMB radio and TV in San Diego. The Lone Ranger caught his eye because he felt the commercial tie-ups hadn't been properly exploited. They have been increased 500 percent under his ownership.

Last December, Wrather picked up Corriganville, a 2,000-acre ranch in the San Fernando Valley where a big percentage of outdoor films are made.

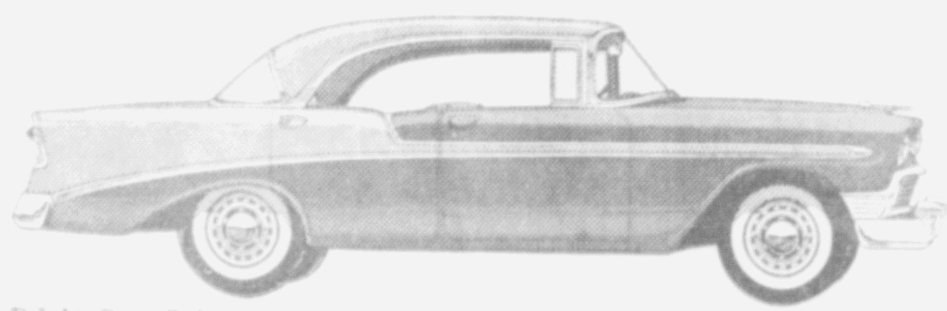

Wrather isn't ignoring Disneyland, either. He is establishing a 10-million-dollar Disneyland Hotel adjacent to the famed wonderland. He figures that people are coming to the park from all over the country and they might as well stay nearby. He also has hotels in Las Vegas and Pam Springs.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I aspire to become an actress. I love the stage and feel at home there; and have the talent and persistence to make a go of it. I didn't realize what I wanted to do until I was 23. I am now 26, and have studied two years and have received good notices in off-Broadway plays, although I had only bit parts.

I am presently employed as a waitress, nine hours a day, six days a week. I study dramatics three nights a week. Acting takes time and most actors need to do other work to finance themselves; and I need my job. Also it is more than a job to me. I like my employers and love the people; and I don't have a chip on my shoulder. But I do have a bad habit of telling others my goals.

Recently my employer said to me, "You should go into acting full time. I saw you in a play; you shouldn't be a waitress. In fact we have a new girl coming in next week, and you can go." Is it possible I have aroused his resentment or envy? Another employee whispered in my ear that I am the best waitress they've ever had. I am trying to understand why they want to let me go.

My mother had a breakdown 13 years ago and has been in a mental hospital ever since; but I learned recently that she has been well for six years. It's only a question of having someone to take her out and give her a home and the love she's missed for so long. My father is affiliated with an international firm and is quite well-to-do; but he fell in love with a younger woman and broke off all communication with mother.

My brothers are in the armed forces; my sister is married; and recently, when I had mother with me for a convalescent visit, they were all "too busy" to see her. We've been split up in foster homes, which may explain their disloyalty.

When I was 19, I took a piece of jewelry from someone. She had left it on a shelf and I picked it up on impulse; but in a few hours my conscience drove me to the police. They let me go, but picked me up later. My dad was "too busy" to come to court. I was sentenced to a woman's reformatory.

In less than a year I was paroled; and during the parole period I fell in love. Four months after the parole was finished, I became a mother. The man disappeared. For the child's sake I surrendered her to an adoption agency. My few friends and family say I'll never get to be an actress, because bad publicity from my past record will always leak out.

M. P.: You have extraordinary vitality of spirit, and a magnificent drive towards "the good life"—good in every sense—despite your costly blunders so far.

You write from the asphalt jungle, where life is a ferocious struggle for survival, in a tangle of humanity where the man above automatically kicks the person trying to rise—even as he has been kicked by others. And I surmise that your boss is firing you for some such reason, in brutal rejection of your aspiration to rise in the world, using his job as a stepping stone.

But Providence may be pressing too, using your boss as an instrument, to launch you in other work or surroundings that will bring answer to prayer.

To get a real grip on the good life, affiliate with a church group. Choose your church for its leadership; be sure the pastor is a first rate minister to his flock. Your city has several great men in this field. Get an appointment with the pastor, to talk things over, and ask his help, in bringing yourself permanently inside the fold. Thus you will make the grade, I am sure.

Group Appointed To Develop Science

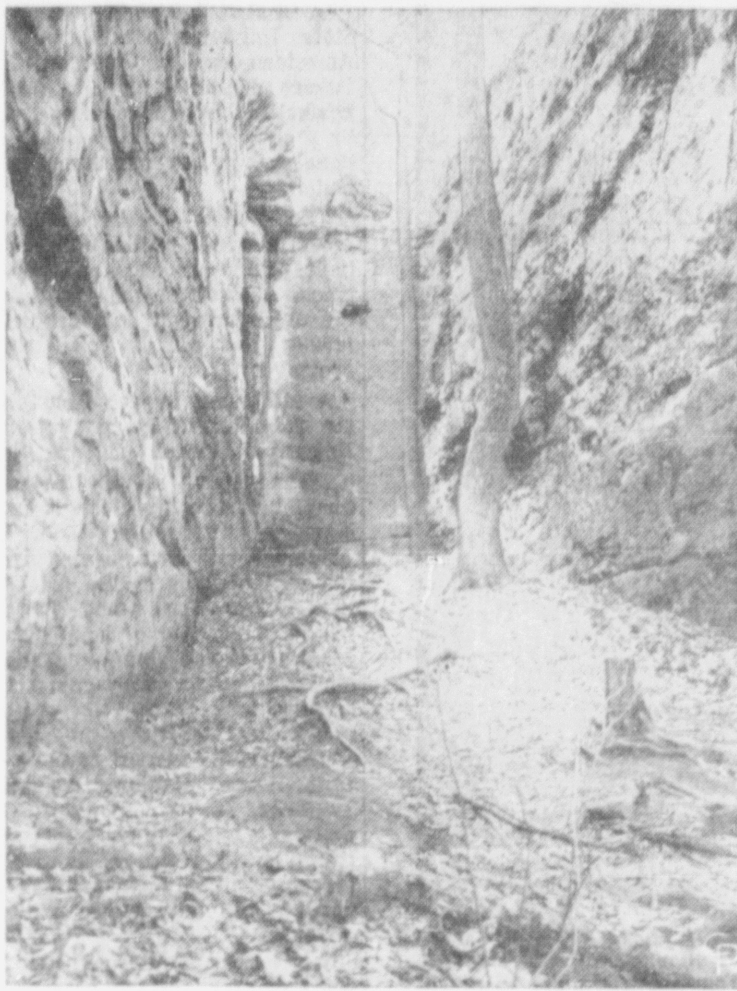

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has moved to maintain American technological superiority which he says "is now seriously challenged by those who use science for aggression and conquest."

To this end, he has named a 19-member committee to stimulate the development of highly qualified scientists and engineers. Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State University, was chosen to head the group.

In setting up the committee, Eisenhower may have had in mind a recent Library of Congress report which said latest available figures show the Soviet Union has 890,000 engineers and scientists compared with 780,000 in the United States.

Knights of Golden Circle Gone But Hideout Tourist Attraction

In this natural fortress the Knights of the Golden Circle set up their printing press in Civil war days.

By GROVER BRINKMAN

GIANT CITY, Ill.—Very few, if any, people are alive today who remember a guerilla band which called itself the Knights of the Golden Circle. However, historic fact remains that during the crucial days of the Civil War, they rode far and wide, trying to organize a Confederate army in the Midwest. They were never apprehended.

The band made its headquarters in this rocky area, near the present university town of Carbondale, Ill., known as Giant City. Even today with more than 900 acres of the area turned into a state park, there is only one roadway in. Naturally, during the war years, it was a well-guarded fortress.

Lying slightly south in the latitude of Richmond, Va., this locale harbored many southern sympathizers, and was an ideal spot for the headquarters of the group. The goal of "the knights" was formation of a secret Confederate army behind Union lines. Augmented by the inmates of a large Confederate prison they hoped to free at Chicago, they planned to strike with their secret hordes at the opportune moment, to turn the tide of the war.

The "knights" broke up into myriads of groups of "night riders," visiting border towns in search of recruits. It was common practice for a group to ride into a town, distribute their treasonable literature, and terrorize the populace.

Lighting a cigar with a dollar bill, or even a larger denomination note, was a favorite trick, to show the people the utter contempt they held for the Lincoln government.

A PRINTING PRESS was set up in the canyons of Giant City, which served as a distribution point for their treasonable literature. Neither law officers nor the Union Army ever penetrated their hideout.

Even today, after the erosion of a century, some of the mottoes of the group are still visible, chiseled in the cliff walls that tower upward for more than 40 feet.

The Giant City hideout, geographically, is a freak. It is perhaps the only spot in Illinois which the great Illinoisian ice sheet didn't touch.

This grinding, gouging, smoothing geological giant altered much of the topography of the Midwest to a level or rolling plain. However, this once-remote hill country in that segment of southern Illinois known as "Egypt" escaped. The bedrock strata, unburied by glacial deposits, stands weathered, ancient and unscathed by time.

TOURISTS from every state in the Union come to Giant City, to marvel at the huge rock canyons that resemble typical Old World streets. It is typical western terrain transplanted to Illinois, unbelievable as it may seem.

Geologically, Giant City is composed of sandstone overlying shale. This sandstone, called Makanda, was laid down in the Pennsylvanian period, to a depth of 100 feet or more. Below this is the Drury shale, a soft mud rock, easily eroded.

Streams, cutting downward through this soft rock, have formed "streets" that look strangely like the labyrinthine passages of some Old World city. In these deep recesses, even the birds are few and quiet, and sunlight seldom reaches.

You might hear the voice of a phoebe whose nest of moss is plastered on a concealed ledge; or the shrill twitter of a rough-winged swallow in deep summer. In winter the area is silent as the tomb. It was an ideal spot for a Civil War fortress.

Processing Starts On New Ohio Liquor Sale Permits

COLUMBUS (AP)—William Bryant, state liquor director, yesterday ordered the department's permit division to start processing the first 200 applications for new liquor permits for possible issuance under the new "freeze" regulation.

The director met late Monday with the permit division staff to study methods for putting the new regulation into effect.

He said that determining population quota is only one problem connected with the issuance of permits under the new freeze regulation.

Bryant's order calls for applications filed in past years, such as those filed in 1947, 1948, 1949, etc., to be processed first. Thereafter, applications will continue to be processed in groups according to the date of application.

The director said the department is faced with the problem of obtaining additional personnel to investigate the 1,533 applications now on file for new permits. The present staff handles 40,000 renewal applications and 5,000 transfer applications each year.

Also to be determined, the director said, are the permits to be excluded from processing. Those areas where there are already a great number of permits may not be entitled to new ones. Applications from those areas would be held up until there is a possibility of issuance.

Bryant said all applicants must be screened to be sure they and their premises meet all legal qualifications. Legal requirements to be determined by the permit division include those establishing whether the applicant has a business in operation, if sanitation and sanitation equipment comply with the law, if the applicant is the true owner of the business, if issuance of a permit saturates the area or contributes to skid row conditions, and if the premises is within 500 feet of a church, school, library or public playground.

The applicant himself must not be a convicted felon, and must be a citizen of the United States. He must have been a resident of the state for one year, and it must be determined if he is free of conviction of criminal statutes.

The director warned that the department activity on new permits is contingent on the outcome of the application for a rehearing of a Supreme Court decision which had knocked out the department's original freeze order on issuance of new liquor permits.

Earlier, Bryant said he had received threats of a suit to compel the department to start immediate issuing of hard liquor permits, but he termed such legal actions "premature," since the rehearing request has not been acted upon.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I aspire to become an actress. I love the stage and feel at home there; and have the talent and persistence to make a go of it. I didn't realize what I wanted to do until I was 23. I am now 26, and have studied two years and have received good notices in off-Broadway plays, although I had only bit parts.

I am presently employed as a waitress, nine hours a day, six days a week. I study dramatics three nights a week. Acting takes time and most actors need to do other work to finance themselves; and I need my job. Also it is more than a job to me. I like my employers and love the people; and I don't have a chip on my shoulder. But I do have a bad habit of telling others my goals.

Recently my employer said to me, "You should go into acting full time. I saw you in a play; you shouldn't be a waitress. In fact we have a new girl coming in next week, and you can go." Is it possible I have aroused his resentment or envy? Another employee whispered in my ear that I am the best waitress they've ever had. I am trying to understand why they want to let me go.

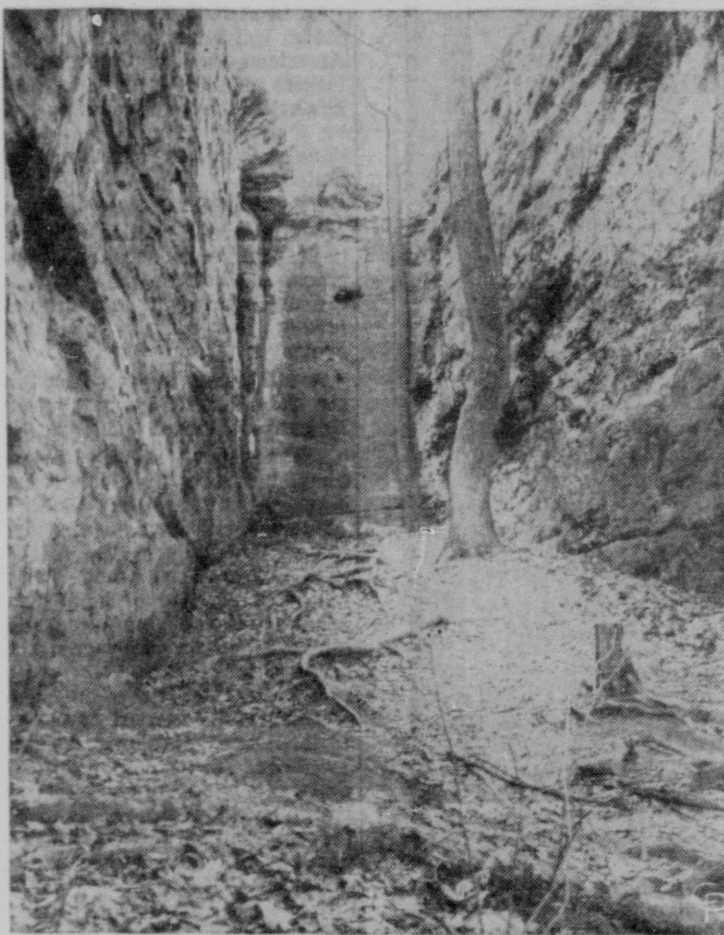

My mother had a breakdown 13 years ago and has been in a mental hospital ever since; but I learned recently that she has been well for six years. It's only a question of having someone to take her out and give her a home and the love she's missed for so long. My father is afflicted with an international firm and is quite well-to-do; but he fell in love with a younger woman and broke off all communication with mother.

My brothers are in the armed forces; my sister is married; and recently, when I had mother with me for a convalescent visit, they were all "too busy" to see her. We've been split up in foster homes, which may explain their disloyalty.

Cancer Month Is Proclaimed Here--Set To Start on April 15

In proclaiming April as "Cancer Control Month," City Manager James F. Parkinson noted that a third of the 32 deaths due to cancer in Fayette County last year could have been avoided by earlier diagnosis and treatment.

The city manager also called for increasing recognition of the Cancer Society's leadership in the fight against cancer with its three-fold program of research, education and service.

After signing the proclamation, Parkinson said he hoped the people of Fayette County would support the 1956 Crusade to raise funds for the annual fund-raising and information-spreading Crusade scheduled for the week of April 15 to 22.

The opening day has been designated as Cancer Sunday. The campaign is to be concentrated between 1 and 4 o'clock that afternoon in Washington C. H. and the villages of the county and during that week throughout Fayette County.

The goal for Fayette County this year is $4,000.

Mrs. N. M. Reiff is the president of the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society this year. Mrs. William Junk is chairman of the Crusade in Washington C. H. and Mrs. James Perrill is chairman of the Crusade in the county. Both chairmen have just about completed their organizations of solicitors. Mrs. Elmer Reed, the executive-secretary said.

Cop Chief Admits Salesman Leaves Him 'Overtaxed'

CLEVELAND (AP)—A shipment of 15,000 tacks has taxed the patience of the Brecksville Village Council and put the suburb's police chief on the carpet.

The red, white and blue tacks are used to show different types of traffic accidents on a police map.

"But 15,000 tacks," snorted Council President Joseph Flanagan. "Why, we've got enough tacks to denote every kind of accident in all of Cuyahoga County for at least a year."

Flanagan called the $30 shipment an example of "super salesmanship on the part of the tack company and low resistance on the part of the chief."

The police chief, William Semk, admitted he needed only about 100 tacks of each color. He chuckled:

"I think we have been overtaxed."

Another Man Accused In Lima Probe

THE PROCLAMATION issued by City Manager Parkinson follows: "Cancer is one of the most critical public health problems of our times. Some 250,000 Americans, many of them in our own state, will die of cancer in 1956 if present rates continue. Moreover, at the present rates, one American in every four now living will someday be stricken by that disease."

"But in the last decade there has been marked progress in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. Although one cancer patient in four is now being cured, two out of four patients could be saved if they were treated early enough."

"The American Cancer Society plays a leading role in the national fight against cancer. Through its programs of public and professional education, the Society spreads the life-saving message of early discovery and prompt treatment. By its support of more than 1,000 top-flight scientists in a nationally coordinated program of research, the American Cancer Society gives urgency to the search for cure for this dread disease.

"As a voluntary organization, it depends entirely on your public contributions obtained through its annual fund raising drive. As the City Manager of Washington C. H. I, James F. Parkinson, do hereby proclaim that the month of April will be observed as Cancer Control Month."

"Therefore, I urge generous financial support to the Cancer Society's Campaign, so that it may widen and intensify the battle against cancer. To achieve the goal of $4,000, all of you must support this effort."

Another Man Accused In Lima Probe

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Three men now have been charged with issuing worthless checks in a continuing investigation of a check passing racket police believe may cover five states.

Springfield police Wednesday filed charges of passing bad checks against Granville Johnson, 47, of Winchester, Ky. Johnson was turned over to Springfield police by Lima authorities.

Lima police arrested Johnson, his wife, Dorothy, and a 17-year-old girl last Saturday. Mrs. Johnson was released from custody Wednesday, but juvenile authorities still held the girl.

Springfield police also filed detainers against two other men held by Lima police.

They are William A. Beckett, 26, alias Carl A. Richardson, of Winchester, and William Hale, 27, alias Jackie Stevens, of Williamson, W. Va.

Lima police have charged the pair with issuing false checks in Lima. They were arrested Friday. Detainers were also filed against Beckett and Hale by Jackson, Mich., police who wanted them for questioning about $5,884 worth of bad checks passed in that city less than two weeks ago.

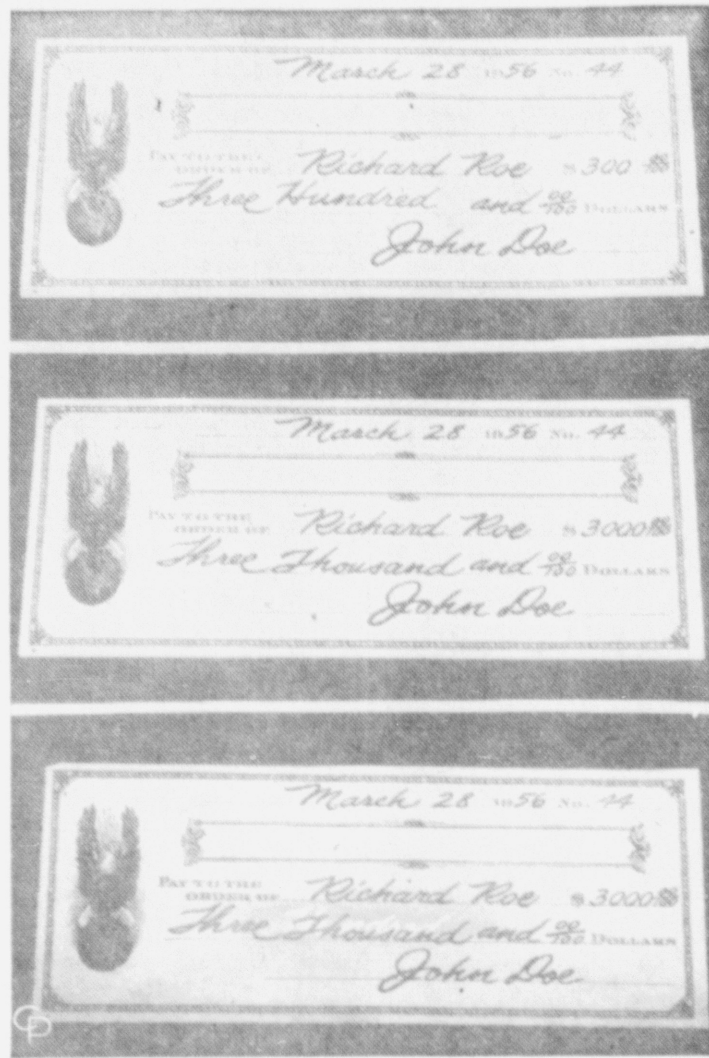

Lima police said they believed Beckett, Hale and Johnson are involved in a ring which has passed an estimated $100,000 worth of bad checks in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa since last fall.

City Manager Shuns Pay Hike

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A.C. Joseph has refused a $4,800 annual salary increase.

The Newport city manager turned down the increase offered by city commissioners.

Joseph explained he knew the salary was $7,200 when he took the job and didn't feel he should take the increase in view of the city's low financial status.

Truman Says Ike Misleads Nation In Evaluating Soviet

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the Eisenhower administration is misleading the nation when it claims recent shifts in Soviet tactics mean failure of Russian policy.

"I believe the Communist threat is more dangerous now than ever before," Truman said last night. "I believe recent changes in Soviet tactics are not signs of 'failure' but evidence of growing economic power."

The former President called for a "bold, new program for foreign economic aid" to meet the Soviet threat.

Truman criticized Republican conduct of foreign affairs in a speech at the annual awards dinner of the Overseas Press Club.

One of the awards went to Clifton Daniel of the New York Times, who is to marry Truman's daughter Margaret later this month.

In a message sent to the dinner, President Eisenhower praised the awards as "sharply" demonstrating "the high standards which American men and women of the press keep before them."

Truman said the Eisenhower administration has "not been frank with the American people" on foreign affairs and, instead, has been telling them "only what seems to be politically expedient at the moment."

"The American people will not support a vigorous foreign aid program if they do not understand the need for it," he said.

Ohio State University Group Backs Firing Of Professor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State University chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors (AAUP) will protest against a recommendation made by a special committee of the national group last month in Washington.

The AAUP's special committee recommended that the administrations of five colleges and universities, including Ohio State, be censured for firing or suspending faculty members in civil rights controversies.

A statement by the Ohio chapter released today by President Howard J. Pincus said:

"The Ohio State University chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors Tuesday voted to instruct its delegates to the national meeting of the AAUP in St. Louis on April 6 and 7 to protest the procedure used by the special national committee and in consequence to vote against censure."

"At the same time, the chapter reaffirmed its support of the basic principals of academic freedom."

Pincus, a professor in Ohio State's geology department and Professor H. Gordon Hullfish of the university's department of education will attend the national meeting.

While the special committee did not name any of the persons involved in the cases cited, it was assumed by Ohio State that the AAUP's censure recommendation had to do with the dismissal in April 1952 of Dr. Byron T. Darling, a physics professor. Dr. Darling had denied in unsworn statements that he was or ever had been a member of the Communist Party.

Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State, said he and the university were opposed to the idea that Communist party membership in itself does not warrant dismissal of a professor.

Bevis made his statement following the news release by the special committee of the AAUP.

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—A woman who found a purse containing $20,300, mostly in checks, turned it over to authorities and was rewarded with a $20 tip at Tanforan race track.

Mrs. Helen Johnson found the purse in a ladies rest room.

Half a length behind was Mrs. Helen Silva, Oakland, looking for her purse and the $20,300, of which $300 was in cash and the rest checks. Mrs. Silva explained she had sold a house just before going to the track, which accounted for the checks.

SERVICE to the Community!

It's a good idea... for 1956!

If every citizen made the contribution to his community which newspaperboys will make during the coming year, what a wonderful year of accomplishment it would be for everyone.

Of course, most of us older folks would be reluctant to set aside an important part of our day to serve our neighbors. But the newspaperboy does it willingly. He knows from past experience that service to his community also provides worthwhile rewards for him.

He enjoys training many other boys miss. He develops responsibility, he uses his spare time for achievement rather than mischief, he learns to meet people and serve them efficiently. He knows that learning these lessons today as a boy while operating his own small business will pay untold dividends during the years to come.

The newspaperboy's daily generous effort to improve himself while serving his community is probably one important reason why so many of the nation's leaders say today, "Newspaperboys are outstanding youngsters. They are the business leaders of tomorrow."

Cancer Month Is Proclaimed Here--Set To Start on April 15

In proclaiming April as "Cancer Control Month," City Manager James F. Parkinson noted that a third of the 32 deaths due to cancer in Fayette County last year could have been avoided by earlier diagnosis and treatment.

The city manager also called for increasing recognition of the Cancer Society's leadership in the fight against cancer with its three-fold program of research, education and service.

After signing the proclamation, Parkinson said he hoped the people of Fayette County would support the 1956 Crusade to raise funds generously.

This annual fund-raising and information-spreading Crusade is scheduled for the week of April 15 to 22.

The opening day has been designated as Cancer Sunday. The campaign is to be concentrated between 1 and 4 o'clock that afternoon in Washington C. H. and the villages of the county and during that week throughout Fayette County.

The goal for Fayette County this year is $4,000.

Mrs. N. M. Reiff is the president of the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society this year. Mrs. William Junk is chairman of the Crusade in Washington C. H. and Mrs. James Perrill is chairman of the Crusade in the county. Both chairmen have just about completed their organizations of solicitors. Mrs. Elmer Reed, the executive-secretary said.

THE PROCLAMATION issued by City Manager Parkinson follows:

"Cancer is one of the most critical public health problems of our times. Some 250,000 Americans, many of them in our own state, will die of cancer in 1956 if present rates continue. Moreover, at the present rates, one American in every four now living will someday be stricken by that disease.

"But in the last decade there has been marked progress in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. Although one cancer patient in four is now being cured, two out of four patients could be saved if they were treated early enough.

"The American Cancer Society plays a leading role in the national fight against cancer. Through its programs of public and professional education, the Society spreads the life-saving message of early discovery and prompt treatment. By its support of more than 1,000 top-flight scientists in a nationally coordinated program of research, the American Cancer Society gives urgency to the search for cure for this dread disease.

"As a voluntary organization, it depends entirely on your public contributions obtained through its annual fund-raising drive. As the City Manager of Washington C. H. I, James F. Parkinson, do hereby proclaim that the month of April will be observed as Cancer Control Month.

"Therefore, I urge generous financial support to the Cancer Society's Campaign, so that it may widen and intensify the battle against cancer. To achieve the goal of $4,000, all of you must support this effort."

Another Man Accused In Lima Probe

LIMA, Ohio (P)—Three men now have been charged with issuing worthless checks in a continuing investigation of a check passing racket police believe may cover five states.

Springfield police Wednesday filed charges of passing bad checks against Granville Johnson, 47, of Winchester, Ky. Johnson was turned over to Springfield police by Lima authorities.

Lima police arrested Johnson, his wife, Dorothy, and a 17-year-old girl last Saturday Mrs. Johnson was released from custody Wednesday, but juvenile authorities still held the girl.

Springfield police also filed detainers against two other men held by Lima police.

They are William A. Beckett, 26, alias Carl A. Richardson, of Winchester, and William Hale, 27, alias Jackie Stevens, of William, W. Va.

Lima police have charged the pair with issuing false checks in Lima. They were arrested Friday. Detainers were also filed against Beckett and Hale by Jackson, Mich., police who wanted them for questioning about $5,884 worth of bad checks passed in that city less than two weeks ago.

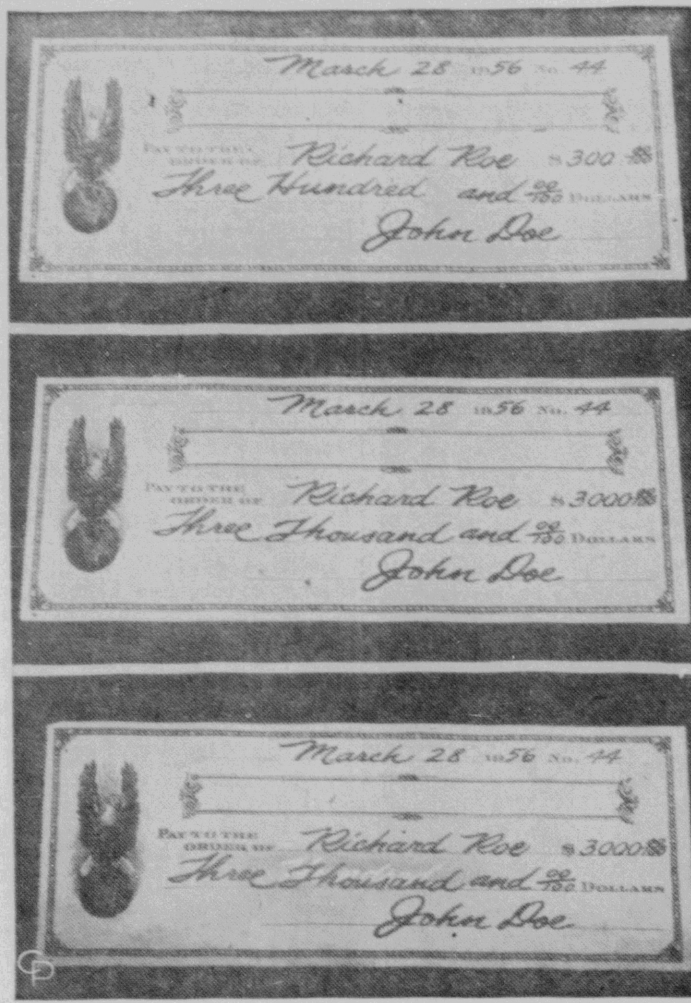

Lima police said they believed Beckett, Hale and Johnson are involved in a ring which has passed an estimated $100,000 worth of bad checks in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Iowa since last fall.

City Manager Shuns Pay Hike

NEWPORT, Ky. (P)—A.C. Joseph has refused a $4,800 annual salary increase.

The Newport city manager turned down the increase offered by city commissioners.

Joseph explained he knew the salary was $7,200 when he took the job and didn't feel he should take the increase in view of the city's low financial status.

Truman Says Ike Misleads Nation In Evaluating Soviet

NEW YORK (P)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the Eisenhower administration is misleading the nation when it claims recent shifts in Soviet tactics mean failure of Russian policy.

"I believe the Communist threat is more dangerous now than ever before," Truman said last night. "I believe recent changes in Soviet tactics are not signs of 'failure' but evidence of growing economic power."

The former President called for a "bold, new program for foreign economic aid" to meet the Soviet threat.

Truman criticized Republican conduct of foreign affairs in a speech at the annual awards dinner of the Overseas Press Club.

One of the awards went to Clifton Daniel of the New York Times, who is to marry Truman's daughter Margaret later this month.

In a message sent to the dinner, President Eisenhower praised the awards as "sharply" demonstrating "the high standards which American men and women of the press keep before them."

Truman said the Eisenhower administration has "not been frank with the American people" on foreign affairs and, instead, has been telling them "only what seems to be politically expedient at the moment."

"The American people will not support a vigorous foreign aid program if they do not understand the need for it," he said.

"But instead of explaining the need, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles tells us that Soviet policy has already failed and is bankrupt.

"The fact is that Communist policy has never been more aggressive than it is now in its new form of economic and political penetration. Not since the end of the war has the Communist strategy been more effective and more dangerous.

"But the administration can't expect us to understand this if it continues to insist that Soviet policy is beaten. The Eisenhower administration's premature claims of success may well be the bar that prevents the actual achievement of success. The fantasies of the secretary of state make it all the more necessary for others to see things through."

Firestone Plans Factory In Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (P)—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. will build a $4 million tire manufacturing plant here, Chairman Harvey S. Firestone Jr. has announced.

After a conference with Cuba's President Fulgencio Batista, Firestone disclosed plans for the new plant which will employ about 500 persons and will produce 100,000 truck and auto tires annually.

It will be the 13th tire factory set up by Firestone outside the U. S. Others are in Canada, South America, Europe, Africa.

Ohio State University Group Backs Firing Of Professor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—The Ohio State University chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors (AAUP) will protest against a recommendation made by a special committee of the national group last month in Washington.

The AAUP's special committee recommended that the administrations of five colleges and universities, including Ohio State, be censured for firing or suspending faculty members in civil rights controversies.

A statement by the Ohio chapter released today by President Howard J. Pincus said:

"The Ohio State University chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors Tuesday voted to instruct its delegates to the national meeting of the AAUP in St. Louis on April 6 and 7 to protest the procedure used by the special national committee and in consequence to vote against censure.

"At the same time, the chapter reaffirmed its support of the basic principles of academic freedom."

Pincus, a professor in Ohio State's geology department and Professor H. Gordon Hullfish of the university's department of education will attend the national meeting.

While the special committee did not name any of the persons involved in the cases cited, it was assumed by Ohio State that the AAUP's censure recommendation had to do with the dismissal in April 1952 of Dr. Byron T. Darling, a physics professor. Dr. Darling had denied in unsworn statements that he was or ever had been a member of the Communist Party. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State, said he and the university were opposed to the idea that Communist party membership in itself does not warrant dismissal of a professor.

Bevis made his statement following the news release by the special committee of the AAUP.

Purse Containing $20,300 Returned

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (P)—A woman who found a purse containing $20,300, mostly in checks, turned it over to authorities and was rewarded with a $20 tip at Tanforan race track.

Mrs. Helen Johnson found the purse in a ladies rest room.

Half a length behind was Mrs. Helen Silva, Oakland, looking for her purse and the $20,300, of which $300 was in cash and the rest checks. Mrs. Silva explained she had sold a house just before going to the track, which accounted for the checks.

F&G President To Stay on Job

Change Of Residence Won't Change Plans

Willard Holdren is going to serve out his term as president of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association although he is planning to move to Greenfield, about two miles over the line in Highland County, in the near future.

Holdren said he had bought the Homer Hudson Insurance Agency in Greenfield and that he had taken over the business which he is now running. It has been renamed The Greenfield Insurance Agency.

An adjuster for the State Auto Insurance Co. for several years, Holdren was in Fayette, Highland and Madison counties two days each week. He formerly was a fireman with the Washington C. H. Fire Department.

Hudson, he explained, was retiring from the business because of his health.

The Fish and Game Association is clear up to its eyebrows right now in one of the most ambitious programs any organization here has undertaken in many a day; it has leased an 11-acre tract along Rattlesnake Creek near Buena Vista and has started a lodge construction project.

THE SASSAFRAS logs for the sidewalks and the poplar trees for the gable ends and rafters have been cut down in the hills of Ross County. A working force of ax-man went down to Turkey Ridge, south of South Salem, about a month ago and felled the trees at 50 cents apiece.

With that done, the next step was to get the logs, trimmed of branches and cut to approximately the right length, to the lodge site on the recreation area and then build the structure.

This is the project Holdren said he was anxious to see finished during his tenure of office. He pointed out that he would be as close to Buena Vista from Greenfield as from Washington C. H. and that it would be easy for him to come here for the monthly meetings.

Logan Slayer Presses Plea In Defense

LOGAN, Ohio (AP)—The second-degree murder trial of Robert Hartshorn, 26, went into its fourth day today. Hartshorn was expected to resume testifying in his own behalf.

Hartshorn is accused of shooting his brother, Lloyd, 35, last Nov. 29 in a fight over money matters. The shooting occurred on the nearby farm of their father, George.

Wednesday, Hartshorn testified that he shot his brother in self-defense as Lloyd approached him with an upraised ax.

Hartshorn told Hocking County Common Pleas Court:

"As scared as I was, the only thing I could think of was defending myself."

Hartshorn testified that his brother swore to kill him with an ax and also threatened his (Hartshorn's) wife.

Hartshorn said he went to his father's house to get a pistol to defend himself and my wife. He met Lloyd outside and the shooting followed, he said.

Dayton Concrete Dispute Settled

DAYTON (AP)—A month-long strike at Price Bros., a concrete products firm here ended yesterday when Local 217, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers Union (AFL-CIO) announced approval of a two-year contract.

The new contract was reported to provide a 10-cent hourly increase for those not on incentive pay basis and a 7-cent hourly increase for others. Current wage scales were not available.

Bandit Returns, But Shuns Wallet

DENVER (AP)—Just a month ago, clerk Harry Roe was alone in a liquor store when a holdup man cleaned out the cash register and took his wallet.

Roe was alone again Wednesday night—and the same man showed up and cleaned out the cash register again.

But the thug told Roe "I don't want your wallet tonight—there was nothing but chicken feed in there last time."

As the spring training season comes to a close, the Washington C. H. High School track team is reported in "top shape" for the first meet of the season at Wilmington next Tuesday.

The Lion athletes have been working out every day for over two weeks now—barring foul weather—and all indications are towards a first-rank squad to represent the Lions at Wilmington April 10.

An intra-squad meet will be held Friday night or Saturday morning, according to coach Fred Domenico, in order to give the boys' fitness one final trial. But Domenico is unworried—for his team appears to be facing the Wilmington meet in the peak of condition.

Racers, jumpers, hurdle men and field events specialists have all been going through the tough, two-week training schedule. The intra-squad meet will decide which of them will journey to the Clinton

Rooming House Conviction Fought

COLUMBUS (AP)—Neill K. Rife, national president of the Property Owners Assn. of America, has moved for a new trial after being convicted by jury of violating a Columbus rooming house ordinance.

A frequent critic of this city's enforcement of building regulations, Rife was found guilty yesterday of housing minors under 16 at a rooming house. The ordinance carries a maximum penalty of $300 fine and three months in jail. Judge C. J. Lester of Mount Vernon, sitting by assignment in municipal court, withheld sentencing pending hearing on the motion for a new trial.

C. E. Wohlhuter Files More Suits

Property West Of The Fairgrounds Involved

Two more suits have been filed against the Scott heirs by Clarence E. Wohlhuter, who married Flossie Scott, who later died and willed him her one-third interest in certain lands west of Washington C. H.

This time Wohlhuter makes Earl Leroy Scott, Edith Scott, Esther Scott Crone and The Dayton Power & Light Co. and The Federal Land Bank of Louisville, defendants. He is represented by Griffith and Griffith of Columbus.

Wohlhuter's suit is virtually the same as the one he filed a few days ago in connection with a lot at the northeast end of the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Wohlhuter claims the undivided one-third interest in two tracts west of the Fayette County Fairground, bounded on the north by the CCC Highway; south by Route 62 (Leesburg Road) and west by the Jamison Road, with two exceptions where others own small tracts. There are approximately 221 acres in the two tracts.

He also asks for an accounting by the Scott heirs for all funds obtained from the property.

Both suits are similarly worded except the description of property.

Grocer Convicted In Narcotics Case

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Curtis (Big June) Williams, 31, a Middletown grocer, was convicted Wednesday on two charges of violation of the narcotics laws. Common Pleas Judge P. P. Boli deferred sentencing pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

A jury of 10 women and 2 men convicted Williams on charges of possessing of narcotics for sale and illegal sale of narcotics.

Court attaches said the penalty is 10-20 years in prison on the possession for sale charge and 20-40 years on the illegal sale count. Williams and three Dayton men were arrested Feb. 12 in a raid by federal agents and Middletown and Dayton detectives.

The other three men still awaiting trial, are James T. Skinner, 43, Harold H. Walker, 25, and Clifford Byrd, 21.

Pig Farmer Target Of Tollroad Cafe

BRYAN (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission and Buddies Food Services, Inc., of Toledo have filed suit in Williams County common pleas court seeking an injunction to restrain a Brady Township farmer from raising pigs in the vicinity of the Tiffin River turnpike plaza.

The suit charges that J. Russell McKarns, by raising 600 to 1,000 pigs on a site adjacent to the plaza, has created a nuisance.

Buddies food services operates a restaurant at the plaza.

He will also describe the Bell system's coaxial cable network, now being installed across the nation which augments the radio relay system in carrying both network television programs and regular long distance telephone messages from one city to another.

Clark has been with Ohio Bell for 28 years. Previous to his entry into the telephone business, he was in the sales field and employed

As the spring training season comes to a close, the Washington C. H. High School track team is reported in "top shape" for the first meet of the season at Wilmington next Tuesday.

The Lion athletes have been working out every day for over two weeks now—barring foul weather—and all indications are towards a first-rank squad to represent the Lions at Wilmington April 10.

An intra-squad meet will be held Friday night or Saturday morning, according to Coach Fred Dominico, in order to give the boys' fitness one final trial. But Dominico is unworried—for his team appears to be facing the Wilmington meet in the peak of condition.

Racers, jumpers, hurdle men and field events specialists have all been going through the tough, two-week training schedule. The intra-squad meet will decide which of them will journey to the Clinton

Rooming House Conviction Fought

COLUMBUS (AP)—Neill K. Rife, national president of the Property Owners Assn. of America, has moved for a new trial after being convicted by jury of violating a Columbus rooming house ordinance.

A frequent critic of this city's enforcement of building regulations, Rife was found guilty yesterday of housing minors under 16 at a rooming house. The ordinance carries a maximum penalty of $300 fine and three months in jail. Judge C. J. Lester of Mount Vernon, sitting by assignment in municipal court, withheld sentencing pending hearing on the motion for a new trial.

Lausche Dedicates Forestry Projects

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche is participating in the dedication of forestry projects.

The governor went to Leesburg in Highland County yesterday for the dedication of a school sponsored forest. Today he will take part in the dedication of a municipal forest at Cambridge.

C. E. Wohltheter Files More Suits

Property West Of The Fairgrounds Involved

Two more suits have been filed against the Scott heirs by Clarence E. Wohltheter, who married Flossie Scott, who later died and willed him her one-third interest in certain lands west of Washington C. H.

This time Wohltheter makes Earl Leroy Scott, Edith Scott, Esther Scott Crone and The Dayton Power & Light Co. and The Federal Land Bank of Louisville, defendants. He is represented by Griffith and Griffith of Columbus.

Wohltheter's suit is virtually the same as the one he filed a few days ago in connection with a lot at the northeast end of the Fayette County Fairgrounds.

Wohltheter claims the undivided one-third interest in two tracts west of the Fayette County Fairground, bounded on the north by the CCC Highway; south by Route 62 (Leesburg Road) and west by the Jamison Road, with two exceptions where others own small tracts. There are approximately 221 acres in the two tracts.

He also asks for an accounting by the Scott heirs for all funds obtained from the property.

Both suits are similarly worded except the description of property.

Grocer Convicted In Narcotics Case

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Curtis (Big June) Williams, 31, a Middletown grocer, was convicted here Wednesday on two charges of violation of the narcotics laws. Common Pleas Judge P. P. Boli deferred sentencing pending the filing of a motion for a new trial.

A jury of 10 women and 2 men convicted Williams on charges of possessing of narcotics for sale and illegal sale of narcotics.

Court attaches said the penalty is 10-20 years in prison on the possession for sale charge and 20-40 years on the illegal sale count. Williams and three Dayton men were arrested Feb. 12 in a raid by federal agents and Middletown and Dayton detectives.

The other three men still awaiting trial, are James T. Skinner, 43, Harold H. Walker, 25, and Clifford Byrd, 21.

Pig Farmer Target Of Tollroad Cafe

BRYAN (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission and Buddies Food Services, Inc., of Toledo have filed suit in Williams County common pleas court seeking an injunction to restrain a Brady Township farmer from raising pigs in the vicinity of the Tiffin River turnpike plaza.

The suit charges that J. Russell McKarns, by raising 600 to 1,000 pigs on a site adjacent to the plaza, has created a nuisance. Buddies food services operates a restaurant at the plaza.

Electronic Lecture For Jeff Students

A lecture-demonstration of television transmission will be given by Robert C. Clark, of Cincinnati, public relations supervisor for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. before a Jeffersonville High School assembly at 9:45 A. M. on Friday, April 20.

Robert C. Clark

In explaining and demonstrating the principles of radar and the use of micro-waves in transmitting television pictures, Clark will use special apparatus to show how micro-waves may be reflected, bent, made to go around corners and concentrated into narrow beams.

He will also describe the Bell system's coaxial cable network, now being installed across the nation which augments the radio relay system in carrying both network television programs and regular long distance telephone messages from one city to another.

Clark has been with Ohio Bell for 28 years. Previous to his entry into the telephone business, he was in the sales field and employ-

San Francisco Tops Nation In Number Of Its Alcoholics

WASHINGTON (AP)—San Francisco had by far the highest rate of alcoholism among the nation's big cities in 1950, two Yale University researchers reported today.

New York, Detroit and St. Louis weren't even in the first 25, according to a survey by alcoholism researchers Mark Keller and Vera Efron. They reported their findings in the Quarterly Journal of Studies of Alcohol.

They said San Francisco showed a rate of 4,190 "alcoholics with complications" for each 100,000 adult population. Next closest were Sacramento, Calif., with a rate of 2,780, and Louisville, Ky., 2,380.

High Court Rules Against Ashtabula Pair

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court today refused to order the names of two Ashtabula men placed on primary election ballots as candidates for Congress in Northeastern Ohio's 11th District.

The unanimous action left intact the names of 10 other congressional aspirants who filed in Warren. The court said that Trumbull County, "although not wholly situated in the 11th District, is the most populous county of the district, and the statutory requirement is therefore not satisfied by filing in Ashtabula County."

Denial of a writ of mandamus left the names of six Republicans and four Democrats on the ballot as candidates for Congress.

Republicans are: David S. Denison Jr. of Warren, who pleaded the case as the friend of the court; Robert F. Britton of Geauga County, State Sen. Ralph L. Humphrey of Ashtabula County, Robert E. Stockdale of Portage County, and Wayne Davis of Lake County.

Democrat candidates are James P. Bennett, Mack D. Cook and Peter J. Tanagis, all of Trumbull County, and John Gleason of Ashtabula County.

Former Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, a Democrat candidate for attorney general, acted as counsel for the Ashtabula pair. They are Democrat James R. Rohl, attorney and former Ashtabula County election board member, and Republican Clifton J. Clappitt, a restaurant operator.

alcoholics there are three other chronic, excessive drinkers without such complications.

THE SURVEY covered cities of 100,000 population or over. The rates were figured on the basis of adult population 20 years of age or over. The 1950 figures were said to be the most recent available.

The cities which the survey listed among the top 25 in rate of alcoholism, after the top three, were:

Wilmington, Del., 2,120 for each 100,000; Long Beach, Calif., and Hartford, Conn., each 2,070; Peoria Ill., and Elizabeth, N. J., each 2,050; Boston, 2,020; Seattle 2,010; Los Angeles, 1,990; Oakland, Calif., 1,980; Jersey City, N. J., 1,960; Cincinnati and Cleveland, each 1,880; South Bend, Ind., 1,810; Toledo, 1,790; Newark, N. J., and Washington, D. C., each 1,760; Chicago, 1,740; Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and El Paso, Tex., each 1,730; Trenton, N. J., 1,710; Buffalo, N. Y., 1,690.

At the other end of the ladder, the lowest rate of 440 for each 100,000 adults was reported for Austin, Tex., and Charlotte, N.C. They were followed in the lowest 20 by Berkeley, Calif., 470; Oklahoma City, 490; Phoenix, Ariz., 520; Norfolk, Va., 540; Arlington County, Va., 570; Duluth, Minn., 580; Mobile, Ala., 600; Grand Rapids, Mich., and Spokane, Wash., each 630; Tacoma, Wash., 640; Allentown, Pa., Des Moines, Iowa, and Corpus Christi, Tex., each 670; New Bedford, Mass., and Savannah, Ga., each 680; Salt Lake City and Fort Wayne, Ind., each 690; and Tulsa, Okla., 710.

Milwaukee Keeps Socialist Mayor

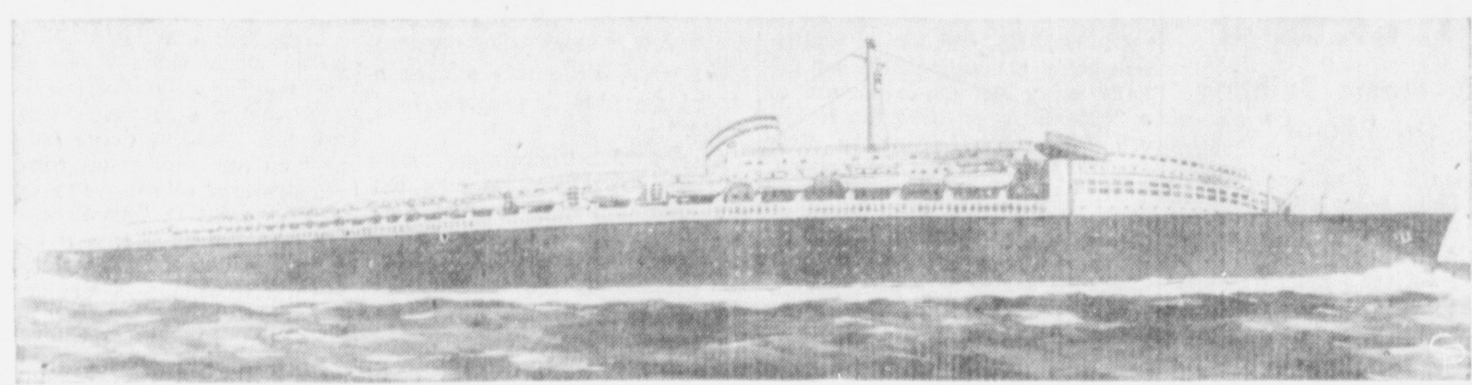

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Mayor Frank Zeidler, buffeted in a hot campaign because of his Socialist background, was voted a third four-year term yesterday, defeating Milton J. McGuire, president of the city council.

With 519 of the city's 526 precincts reporting Zeidler polled 118,012 to 93,954 for McGuire.

The election was nonpartisan but Zeidler made his bid for the backing of labor and Democratic elements. McGuire, who described himself as a Democrat prior to his election to head the Council 12 years ago, was supported by Republican elements. However, neither candidate had the official backing of any party.

Europe for $50, Buy Your Own Meals

Drawing of one of the proposed "motel" super-liners, to carry 6,000 passengers and do business the poor man's way.

By MEL HEIMER
(Central Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The most daring innovation in recent trans-Atlantic sailing history seems in the offing today, all because a New York hotel chain operator and financier sat up and realized "it costs too much for people to go to Europe these days."

Taking that premise, H. B. Cantor rounded up a group of investors to provide five million dollars' working capital and 25 million more in available reserves, and promptly made plans — to construct two "unsinkable" super-liners that will take Mr. and Mrs. America to Europe at the unheard-of sum of $50 each.

"I want to build a bridge to Europe on a Woolworth basis," says Cantor, a longtime hotel man with hostilities in this city, Boston and New Haven, Conn. Perhaps he should have said "on an Automat basis," for actually the giant ships will come mighty close to being floating cafeterias.

The $50 fare will include transportation and berth only. There will be only one class passenger. In the center of each liner will be a huge kitchen, servicing a 1,500-cafeteria as well as a 1,000-seat formal dining room.

In addition, there will be two self-service canteens, with food and beverages at economy prices, and four bars and cocktail lounges.

The ships may be the largest and fastest afloat, being 1,150 feet long and 90,000 tons each, capable of making 34 knots. They will sail between this country and Belgium in four days, each accommodating 6,000 passengers and a crew of 1,350.

Cantor already has filed a letter of intent with Clarence Morse, U. S. Maritime commissioner, and reports that a government guarantee of loan is being processed by the commission for the ships' construction.

"These won't be ships," he declares. "They'll be floating motels. They're being aimed at the wage-earner class."

Each of the vessels will have two indoor swimming pools, a skating rink, two theaters, outdoor sports equipment, a concert hall and facilities for religious services.

THE PULLMAN company will install prefabricated passenger cabins, laid out in two and four-berth rooms each—with private bath, TV and air-conditioning, yet!

Each ship will have 20 airtight hull compartments. According to Cantor, the twin ships will be convertible to aircraft carriers or division-strength troop carriers.

"The top deck will be a flat top with a clear space of 450 feet by 80 feet in back of the smoke stack," he said. "Below this will be a double-decked, glass-enclosed aircraft hangar space which can be used as a convention hall for business groups, seating 4,000 persons."

Cantor hopes to arrange low-cost, two-week packaged vacations, and, of course, will offer "pay as you go" arrangements.

During off-season periods of the year, business groups — on both sides of the Atlantic — will be canvassed to hold convention junkets on the super-liners.

Cantor's plans call for repayment of the proposed government loan in 20 years, during which time the United States will earn more than 200 million dollars in taxes.

It is believed it will take two years to build the vessels. Reservations for passages will be accepted after the keels are laid.

He Would Abandon Use Of All Money

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ohio's newest candidate for governor wants to do away with money.

That is the proposal made by Arla A. Albaugh of Cincinnati, who was nominated as the Socialist Labor party's write-in candidate for governor.

"The trouble with everything today is capitalism," Albaugh said. "We propose to make the time card the medium of exchange and do away with money."

Albaugh declared industry and all business should be publicly owned and "everyone will have a time card" which "will show what you have earned and what you deserve."

Workhouse Terms Said Paying Off

CINCINNATI (AP)—Workhouse sentences for traffic speeders seem to be getting results here, says City Safety Director Oris E. Hamilton.

He told a civic group yesterday that "we have tried to reason with these violators, especially the speeders, we have tried to educate them, we have tried to shame them, but the only thing that seems to restrain them is fear, especially fear of the workhouse."

A speeder in Cincinnati can be sure of at least two days in the workhouse upon conviction.

Disc Jockey Given Needle For Airing Unmusical Junk

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Robbins, for many years a popular CBS disc jockey and now the host of CBS radio's "Young Ideas," believes that many of the nation's 6,000 disc jockeys are failing to do their duty.

"There's so much unmusical junk these days that's unfit to be heard," he said the other day. "Song writers and singers ask: 'Why do a good song? They aren't selling.' With a few exceptions what's selling is 'rock 'n' roll.' And that's because too many disc jockeys are playing the stuff."

There are probably well over 100 million people in America who agree with Robbins. Certainly I do. In the past year I've just about given up listening to disc jockeys. The awful stuff they're playing that makes me turn them off.

Just as I thought I was getting old, along comes Robbins — who is younger than I and far better trained musically. This guy knows what he's talking about. Listen:

"Rock 'n' roll is a perversion of rhythm in blues. Its beat is all that matters. Just beat and a honky sax..."

"A disc jockey should be a musical editor. While he has to cater to public taste to a point, he also has a duty to cultivate public taste in music."

"The trouble with a lot of them is that they're musically ignorant. They're staff announcers who are assigned to the job of being

D.J.'s. All a lot of them do is keep playing the 'top ten'."

Robbins names Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra as two among those who have "retained musical integrity." He believes Jackie Gleason, for one, has "done immeasurable good with his recordings to improve the popular taste in basically good music."

But he points out that the basic market in recordings is composed of teen-agers — about 65 per cent of the total market. A large number of these teen-agers have gone for rock 'n' roll music, often because there does not seem to be enough of any better popular music available.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

San Francisco Tops Nation In Number Of Its Alcoholics

WASHINGTON (AP)—San Francisco had by far the highest rate of alcoholism among the nation's big cities in 1950, two Yale University researchers reported today.

New York, Detroit and St. Louis weren't even in the first 25, according to a survey by alcoholism researchers Mark Keller and Vera Efron. They reported their findings in the Quarterly Journal of Studies of Alcohol.

They said San Francisco showed a rate of 4,190 "alcoholics with complications" for each 100,000 adult population. Next closest were Sacramento, Calif., with a rate of 2,780, and Louisville, Ky., 2,380.

They defined "alcoholics with complications" as those "who have developed recognizable physical or mental symptoms due to excessive drinking." The researchers said estimates are that for very such alcoholics there are three other chronic, excessive drinkers without such complications.

THE SURVEY covered cities of 100,000 population or over. The rates were figured on the basis of adult population 20 years of age or over. The 1950 figures were said to be the most recent available.

The cities which the survey listed among the top 25 in rate of alcoholism, after the top three, were:

Wilmington, Del., 2,120 for each 100,000; Long Beach, Calif., 1,900; Hartford, Conn., each 2,070; Peoria Ill., and Elizabeth, N. J., each 2,050; Boston, 2,020; Seattle 2,010; Los Angeles, 1,990; Oakland, Calif., 1,980; Jersey City, N. J., 1,960; Cincinnati and Cleveland, each 1,880; South Bend, Ind., 1,810; Toledo, 1,790; Newark, N. J., and Washington, D. C., each 1,760; Chicago, 1,740; Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and El Paso, Tex., each 1,730; Trenton, N. J., 1,710; Buffalo, N. Y., 1,690.

At the other end of the ladder, the lowest rate of 440 for each 100,000 adults was reported for Austin, Tex., and Charlotte, N.C.

They were followed in the lowest 20 by Berkeley, Calif., 470; Oklahoma City, 490; Phoenix, Ariz., 520; Norfolk, Va., 540; Arlington County, Va., 570; Duluth, Minn., 580; Mobile, Ala., 600; Grand Rapids, Mich., and Spokane, Wash., each 630; Tacoma, Wash., 640; Allentown, Pa., Des Moines, Iowa, and Corpus Christi, Tex., each 670; New Bedford, Mass., and Savannah, Ga., each 680; Salt Lake City and Fort Wayne, Ind., each 690; and Tulsa, Okla., 710.

The unanimous action left intact the names of 10 other congressional aspirants who filed in Warren. The court said that Trumbull County, "although not wholly situated in the 11th District, is the most populous county of the district, and the statutory requirement is therefore not satisfied by filing in Ashtabula County."

Denial of a writ of mandamus left the names of six Republicans and four Democrats on the ballot as candidates for Congress.

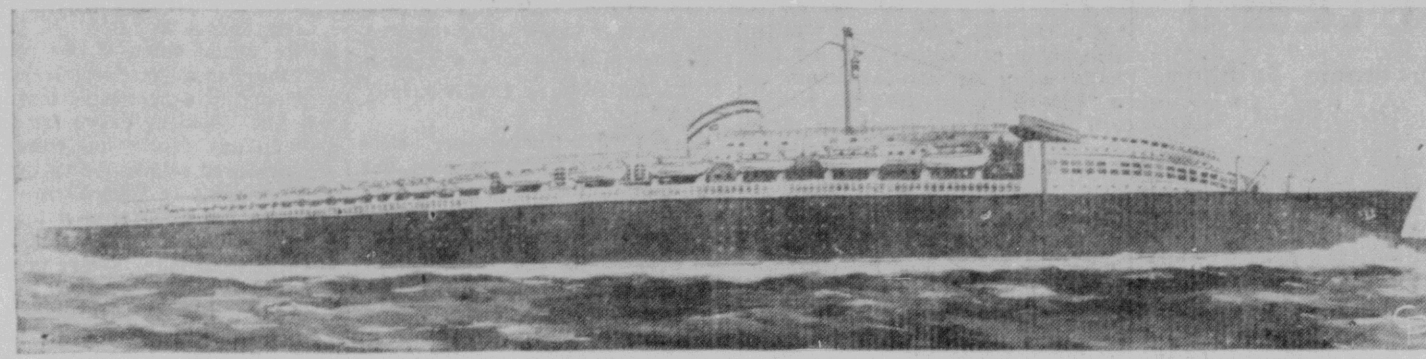

Republicans are: David S. Denison Jr. of Warren, who pleaded the case as the friend of the court; Robert F. Britton of Geauga County, State Sen. Ralph L. Humphrey of Ashtabula County, Robert E. Stockdale of Portage County, and Wayne Davis of Lake County.

Democrat candidates are James P. Bennett, Mack D. Cook and Peter J. Tanagis, all of Trumbull County, and John Gleason of Ashtabula County.

Former Congressman Stephen M. Young of Cleveland, a Democrat candidate for attorney general, acted as counsel for the Ashtabula pair. They are Democrat James R. Rohl, attorney and former Ashtabula County election board member, and Republican Clifton J. Clappitt, a restaurant operator.

Europe for $50, Buy Your Own Meals

Drawing of one of the proposed "motel" super-liners, to carry 6,000 passengers and do business the poor man's way.

By MEL HEIMER

(Central Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK—The most daring innovation in recent trans-Atlantic sailing history seems in the offing today, all because a New York hotel chain operator and financier sat up and realized "it costs too much for people to go to Europe these days."

Taking that premise, H. B. Cantor rounded up a group of investors to provide five million dollars' working capital and 25 million more in available reserves, and promptly made plans — to construct two "unsinkable" super-liners that will take Mr. and Mrs. America to Europe at the unheard-of sum of $50 each.

"I want to build a bridge to Europe on a Woolworth basis," says Cantor, a longtime hotel man with hostilities in this city, Boston and New Haven, Conn. Perhaps he should have said "on an Automat basis," for actually the giant ships will come mighty close to being floating cafeterias.

The $50 fare will include transportation and berth only. There will be only one class passenger. In the center of each liner will be a huge kitchen, servicing a 1,500-cafeteria as well as a 1,000-seat formal dining room.

In addition, there will be two self-service canteens, with food and beverages at economy prices, and four bars and cocktail lounges.

The ships may be the largest and fastest afloat, being 1,150 feet long and 90,000 tons each, capable of making 34 knots. They will sail between this country and Belgium in four days, each accommodating 6,000 passengers and a crew of 1,350.

Cantor already has filed a letter of intent with Clarence Morse, U. S. Maritime commissioner, and reports that a government guarantee of loan is being processed by the commission for the ships' construction.

"These won't be ships," he declares. "They'll be floating motels. They're being aimed at the wage-earner class."

Each of the vessels will have two indoor swimming pools, a skating rink, two theaters, outdoor sports equipment, a concert hall and facilities for religious services.

THE PULLMAN company will install prefabricated passenger cabins, laid out in two and four-berth rooms each—with private bath, TV and air-conditioning, yet!

Each ship will have 20 airtight hull compartments.

According to Cantor, the twin ships will be convertible to aircraft carriers or division-strength troop carriers.

"The top deck will be a flat top with a clear space of 450 feet by 80 feet in back of the smoke stack," he said. "Below this will be a double-decked, glass-enclosed aircraft hangar space which can be used as a convention hall for business groups, seating 4,000 persons."

Cantor hopes to arrange low-cost, two-week packaged vacations, and, of course, will offer "pay as you go" arrangements.

During off-season periods of the year, business groups — on both sides of the Atlantic — will be canvassed to hold convention junkets on the super-liners.

Cantor's plans call for repayment of the proposed government loan in 20 years, during which time the United States will earn more than 200 million dollars in taxes.

It is believed it will take two years to build the vessels. Reservations for passages will be accepted after the keels are laid.

He Would Abandon Use Of All Money

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ohio's newest candidate for governor wants to do away with money.

That is the proposal made by Arla A. Albaugh of Cincinnati, who was nominated as the Socialist Labor party's write-in candidate for governor.

"The trouble with everything today is capitalism," Albaugh said. "We propose to make the time card the medium of exchange and do away with money."

Albaugh declared industry and all business should be publicly owned and "everyone will have a time card" which "will show what you have earned and what you deserve."

Workhouse Terms Said Paying Off

CINCINNATI (AP)—Workhouse sentences for traffic speeders seem to be getting results here, says City Safety Director Oris E. Hamilton.

He told a civic group yesterday that "we have tried to reason with these violators, especially the speeders, we have tried to educate them, we have tried to shame them, but the only thing that seems to restrain them is fear, especially fear of the workhouse."

A speeder in Cincinnati can be sure of at least two days in the workhouse upon conviction.

Disc Jockey Given Needle For Airing Unmusical Junk

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Fred Robbins, for many years a popular

CBS disc jockey and now the host of CBS radio's "Young Ideas," believes that many of the nation's 6,000 disc jockeys are failing to do their duty.

"There's so much unmusical junk these days that's unfit to be heard," he said the other day. "Song writers and singers ask, 'Why do a good song? They aren't selling.' With a few exceptions what's selling is 'rock 'n' roll.' And that's because too many disc jockeys are playing the stuff."

There are probably well over 100 million people in America who agree with Robbins. Certainly I do. In the past year I've just about given up listening to disc jockeys. The awful stuff they're playing that makes me turn them off.

Just as I thought I was getting old, along comes Robbins — who is younger than I and far better trained musically. This guy knows what he's talking about. Listen:

"Rock 'n' roll is a perversion of rhythm in blues. Its beat is all that matters. Just beat and a honky sax."

"A disc jockey should be a musical editor. While he has to cater to public taste to a point, he also has a duty to cultivate public taste in music."

"The trouble with a lot of them is that they're musically ignorant. They're staff announcers who are assigned to the job of being

D.J.'s. All a lot of them do is keep playing the 'top ten'."

Robbins names Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra as two among those who have "retained musical integrity." He believes Jackie Gleason, for one, has "done immeasurable good with his recordings to improve the popular taste in basically good music."

But he points out that the basic market in recordings is composed of teen-agers — about 65 per cent of the total market. A large number of these teen-agers have gone for rock 'n' roll music, often because there does not seem to be enough of any better popular music available.

Monaco Sees No Tourist Boom From Rainier-Grace Marriage

Monaco—that's the Oceanographic museum, center foreground.

By LEONARD J. SNYDER

While the April 18-19 wedding dates of Hollywood's Grace Kelly and Monaco's Prince Rainier may be headline news in this country, American travel agencies expect no increased requests for conducted tours to the tiny Mediterranean principality.

A Central Press survey of some of the nation's leading travel agencies shows no increase in the numbers of American tourists expected to visit Monaco this year.

However, Monaco has long been a stopping place for American sightseers. This year, as last, United States travel agencies will include Monaco in their regular conducted tours of interesting Mediterranean areas.

The international travel department of the American Automobile association, for example is conducting 42 tours to the Mediterranean this year while Thomas Cook & Son, Inc., will have more than 100 conducted tours in that part of the world.

The Italian Lines and the American Export Lines are the only steamship companies which regularly stop at Cannes, France, the closest major port of call to Monaco, which is about an hour's ride by car from the French seaport.

MISS KELLY sailed as scheduled for Monaco on April 4, but it is doubtful whether other Americans will be able to make the direct trip there in the future since Monaco is not expected to become a regular port of call for the large liners.

As a vacation spot, Monaco is well renowned for its setting near the sun-drenched foothills of the Maritime Alps, dotted by pastel-hued villas, sports and Monte Carlo's gambling casino are major attractions for visitors.

The Casino gardens in the center of Monte Carlo flaunt varieties of rare trees and towering palms. Stately pines and tropical vegetation adorn Saint Martin garden, and traditional folklore festivals are held among the 1,000-year-old olive trees of Princess Antoinette park.

Monaco supports a notable Oceanographic museum. Perched atop sheer cliffs, it houses ship models and shells, sponges, pictures and exhibits of past and present fishing methods. Exotic fish with glowing lamps, pig snouts and clown masks enliven the display.

AMID ITS GAY and quiet scenes, Monaco clings to ancestral customs. Each January a ceremony honors Saint Devote, patron saint of the reigning dynasty. On each Good Friday a reverent procession winds through Monaco-Ville streets under lights reflecting a medieval atmosphere.

Only Frame Building Left On "Point"

Workers for the Sorony Mobil Oil Co., which holds a lease on the former Earl Powell Service Station on "the point" next to the Historical Society's museum building at the east end of Court Street, have removed everything pertaining to the service station, with exception of a frame building on the premises.

The company removed the brick service station proper, all light standards, foundations, islands on which the pumps were located and other portions of the foundation. The places left when the cement was chiseled away were filled with fine stone chips, so that the lot is free of all obstructions and leveled off.

Apparently, the oil company has given up the site as a service station location, regardless of the fact the lease does not expire, according to reports for around 18 months.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that plans are underway whereby it may be known definitely in the not distant future just what becomes of the lot vacated with exception of the frame building.

It is also understood that the Sorony Mobil Oil Co. has a provision in the lease whereby the company can purchase the property at a stipulated price, providing it desires to do so, and that a similar clause exists in other lease agreements the company has with the owner, O. E. Powell.

It is also known that The Fayette County Historical Society is interested in acquiring "The Point" where the station was located, to remove fire hazards from the Fayette County Museum property. It also is understood that if the society does acquire "The Point" it probably will restore it much the same as it was before the lawn and landscaping were torn out and the service station located on the tract some 30 years ago.

Medina Dairy Men Urged To Join Combine

MEDINA, Ohio (AP)—Leaders of the newly formed Ohio Dairy Farmers' Marketing Assn. asked 250 Medina county farmers Wednesday night to join their group in a push for higher milk prices and forsake the Milk Producers Federation of Cleveland.

The dairy farmers jammed a small theater at Valley City to hear Russell M. Elmer, head of the Milk Drivers Union in Cleveland, and ODMA leaders.

The Medina meeting followed one attended by about 700 farmers in North Bloomfield, Trumbull County, Tuesday night.

Another meeting has been set for Monday night at the auction barn of Russell T. Kiko in Stark County.

Elmer has advocated bargaining by the association with Cleveland milk handlers to raise the hundredweight price by $1.35.

"I think the record of the milk producers federation speaks for itself," said Jay W. Hartsock, MPF manager, defending it against the charges by association leaders it has failed to help the dairy farmers.

"Anything done in the last 15 or 18 years to improve dairy prices and conditions has been spearheaded by the MPF," Hartsock told a reporter.

Legislative Study Group Eyes 'Canyon' Near Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A legislative study committee held out the hope today for improvements to a "canyon" created by the Northern Ohio turnpike in the Erie County village of Berlin Heights.

Dr. Byron P. Menick, president of the Village Council, said winter had made a mess of slopes on an excavation dug to carry Ohio 61 under the turnpike on the northern edge of the town.

"It really is a mess," Dr. Menick told a commission meeting Wednesday. "Route 61 and Mechanic Street (paralleling the turnpike) were made into a canyon. It is impossible to properly landscape."

George J. Thormeyer, state highway department turnpike liaison officer, explained that rock had to be used to protect the banks because quicksand deposits made plantings impossible.

Frank J. Deemer, Erie County commissioner, and Bert Henning, Wood County engineer, said drainage improvements were needed.

"Stones roll out onto the highway," Henning said.

Rep. Roy H. Longenecker (R-Wood), a committee member, expressed confidence that promised improvements would be made.

Longenecker asserted the Legislature should enact a law requiring the Turnpike Commission to post bond as a guarantee that cuts and fills would be cared for properly on any future toll roads.

Thormeyer said property owners on both sides of Ohio 61 south of the turnpike were paid a total of $83,961 in damages and that most of them were made aware of problems that might arise.

Mrs. Ruth Wilkins, turnpike general counsel, reminded the committee that "this is the first winter for the turnpike."

"Some conditions can't be corrected immediately," she said. "The turnpike has been doing all that it can do."

The committee, a branch of the Legislative Study Commission, delved into the problem at the request of Mrs. Ethel G. Swanbeck (R-Erie), Rep. D. O. Taber (R-Gallia), committee chairman, presided at the meeting.

"If no one has any responsibility," he said, "there should be a law to require it."

The parent commission is a fact-finding arm of the Legislature created to study governmental problems and recommend laws for consideration by the General Assembly.

More Fundamental Thinkers Needed

CINCINNATI (AP)—The American Catholic Philosophical Association was told here that American colleges do not turn out enough fundamental thinkers.

The Rev. Benedict Ashley of the Dominican House of Studies, River Forest, Ill., added that all the great discoveries of recent decades have been made by people with a broad point of view and general education.

Ashley told the meeting that if American colleges educate only in the narrow sense, "We will have only technicians."

Only Frame Building

Workmen for the Socony Mobil Oil Co., which holds a lease on the former Earl Powell Service Station on "the point" next to the Historical Society's museum building at the east end of Court Street, have removed everything pertaining to the service station, with exception of a frame building on the premises.

The company removed the brick service station proper, all light standards, foundations, islands on which the pumps were located and other portions of the foundation. The places left when the cement was chiseled away were filled with fine stone chips, so that the lot is free of all obstructions and leveled off.

Apparently, the oil company has given up the site as a service station location, regardless of the fact the lease does not expire, according to reports for a round 18 months.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that plans are underway whereby it may be known definitely in the not distant future just what becomes of the lot vacated with exception of the frame building.

It is also understood that the Socony Mobil Oil Co. has a provision in the lease whereby the company can purchase the property at a stipulated price, providing it desires to do so, and that a similar clause exists in other lease agreements the company has with the owner, O. E. Powell.

It is also known that The Fayette County Historical Society is interested in acquiring "The Point" where the station was located, to remove fire hazards from the Fayette County Museum property. It also is understood that if the society does acquire "The Point" it probably will restore it much the same as it was before the lawn and landscaping were torn out and the service station located on the tract some 30 years ago.

Medina Dairy Men Urged To Join Combine

MEDINA, Ohio (P)—Leaders of the newly formed Ohio Dairyman's Marketing Assn. asked 250 Medina county farmers Wednesday night to join their group in a push for higher milk prices and forsake the Milk Producers Federation of Cleveland.

The dairy farmers jammed a small theater at Valley City to hear Russell M. Elmer, head of the Milk Drivers Union in Cleveland, and ODMA leaders.

The Medina meeting followed one attended by about 700 farmers in North Bloomfield, Trumbull County, Tuesday night.

Another meeting has been set for Monday night at the auction barn of Russell T. Kiko in Stark County.

Elmer has advocated bargaining by the association with Cleveland milk handlers to raise the hundredweight price by $1.35.

"I think the record of the milk producers federation speaks for itself," said Jay W. Hartsock, MPF manager, defending it against the charges by association leaders it has failed to help the dairy farmers.

"Anything done in the last 15 or 18 years to improve dairy prices and conditions has been spearheaded by the MPF," Hartsock told a reporter.

Legislative Study Group Eyes 'Canyon' Near Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—A legislative study committee held the hope today for improvements to a "canyon" created by the Northern Ohio turnpike in the Erie County village of Berlin Heights.

Dr. Byron P. Menick, president of the Village Council said winter had made a mess of slopes on an excavation dug to carry Ohio 61 under the turnpike on the northern edge of the town.

"It really is a mess," Dr. Menick told a commission meeting Wednesday. "Route 61 and Mechanic Street (paralleling the turnpike) were made into a canyon. It is impossible to properly landscape."

George J. Thormeyer, state highway department turnpike liaison officer, explained that rock had to be used to protect the banks because quicksand deposits made plantings impossible.

Frank J. Deemer, Erie County commissioner, and Bert Henning, Wood County engineer, said drainage improvements were needed.

"Stones roll out onto the highway," Henning said.

Rep. Roy H. Longenecker (R-Wood), a committee member, expressed confidence that promised improvements would be made.

Longenecker asserted the Legislature should enact a law requiring the Turnpike Commission to post bond as a guarantee that cuts and fills would be cared for properly on any future toll roads.

Thormeyer said property owners on both sides of Ohio 61 south of the turnpike were paid a total of $63,961 in damages and that most of them were made aware of problems that might arise.

Mrs. Ruth Wilkins, turnpike general counsel, reminded the committee that "this is the first winter for the turnpike."

"Some conditions can't be corrected immediately," she said. "The turnpike has been doing all that it can do."

The committee, a branch of the Legislative Study Commission, delved into the problem at the request of Mrs. Ethel G. Swanbeck (R-Erie) Rep. D. O. Taber (R-Gallia), committee chairman, presided at the meeting.

"If no one has any responsibility," he said, "there should be a law to require it."

The parent commission is a fact-finding arm of the Legislature created to study governmental problems and recommend laws for consideration by the General Assembly.

More Fundamental Thinkers Needed

CINCINNATI (P)—The American Catholic Philosophical Association was told here that American colleges do not turn out enough fundamental thinkers.

The Rev. Benedict Ashley of the Dominican House of Studies, River Forest, Ill., added that all the great discoveries of recent decades have been made by people with a broad point of view and general education.

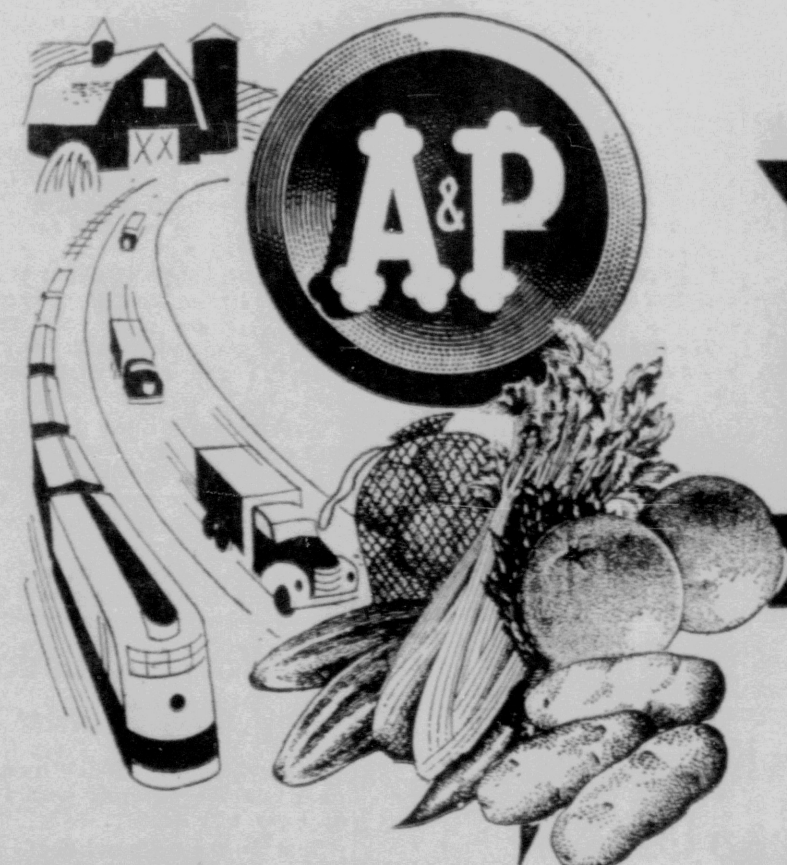

Ashley told the meeting that if American colleges educate only in the narrow sense, "We will have only technicians."

Solons Cool On Special Call For Assembly

Local Governmental Chiefs Seek New Law
On State Revenue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Legislative leaders appear unconvinced that a special tax session is necessary this year.

Local government officials want an immediate special session. Gov. Frank J. Lausche reluctantly termed one a "distinct possibility."

Sen. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), Senate majority leader, said he hoped a special session could be avoided. House Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) went further. He said one might not be needed.

Cloud expressed belief that the regular legislative session convening next January would act to ease pressing local government tax problems.

Cloud called for discussion of a court-created tax dilemma at a meeting of the Legislative Service Commission April 13. He is chairman of that fact-finding arm of the Legislature.

The state Supreme Court recently invalidated a state tax on federal securities held by banks and other financial institutions. Tax officials estimated the decision required rebate of some 12 million dollars collected over a six-year period and loss of two millions annually from that source.

The state has been collecting the tax and turning it over to counties where the banks are located. Budget commissions distributed the money to counties, cities, villages and townships on the basis of need.

Local government officials conferred with Lausche and said they could not get along without the money. They pleaded for a special session to recoup the loss.

The governor remained non-committal. He gave the dozen officials time to talk things over with their associates and state legislators. He said he would be glad to hear from them further.

The governor's attitude toward a special session appeared to some to have cooled since the court decision. He reminded listeners that he favored extraordinary legislative sessions only in emergencies.

Lausche previously indicated he would meet with legislative leaders to talk over the tax problem. But leaders said they had received no invitation. They asserted it would do little good for Lausche, a Democrat, to call a special session unless the Republican-controlled Legislature wanted one.

A commission spokesman hinted at the feeling of legislative leaders about new tax laws. "Special session legislation tends to be only stop-gap," he said. "The day when you can enact stop-gap legislation is past."

He added that the commission might undertake to review the entire tax question emphasized by the court decision.

Local governments long have complained that the Legislature failed to provide adequately for their increased operating costs.

Unless a special session takes up the problem, the 102nd General Assembly will find it waiting on the doorstep next January.

Threat To Ike Brings Sentence

MOBILE, Ala. (P)—An unemployed Biloxi, Miss., man has been sentenced to 42 months in prison on his plea of guilty to a charge of writing a threatening letter to President Eisenhower.

U. S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas imposed the sentence on James L. Winterstein, 31.

The Mississippi said he did not know why he threatened to kill the President. He told the court he was an alcoholic.

The letter was written in a Mobile tavern and mailed Feb. 20. It said: "I'm going to kill you." This was repeated four more times. At the bottom was written, "I mean it," and his name.

Union Accepts City's Pay Offer

CLEVELAND (P)—The Cleveland Federation of Labor has agreed to accept Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze's offer of $102 a year pay raises for 9,000 city employees.

The mayor's offer includes a five-cent hourly raise; a flat pay hike of $102 for all "blue collar" employees, such as firemen and policemen. Police and firemen, however, have not agreed to the plan.

Other benefits were four weeks vacation for 20-year employees and an improved sick leave plan.

The mayor said legislation to cover his offer will be presented to city council next Monday night. He estimated it will cost more than $1 million a year.

Brownell Booked

CINCINNATI (P)—U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell is scheduled to address the annual meeting of judges of the U. S. District and the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals here April 20.

Lady Solons Get OK

STELLA, Mo. (P)—The residents of Stella, population 250, apparently like their town's administration. They reelected the entire five-woman council yesterday.

EVELYN RAGDALE, 25, looks pretty fierce as she enjoys hospitality of the Los Angeles lockup. When arrested she was wanted in 15 cities on suspicion of passing an estimated $15,000 in fake payroll checks. Police said she produced the checks with a rubber stamp and check protector and cashed $500 to $600 worth a day. (International)

Poet's Corner

ONE WAY

Oft in the still night
When all the household snoozes,
I will turn on the light
And court the Muses.

Pencil and pad in hand,
I will start humming
Over euphonic forms,
While they are coming.

At times they turn away
From my benighted wooing,—
And I have naught to show
For my ardent suing.

Then in reversal mood,
Thronging around me
With their Euterpean lore,
They will confound me.

With hushed but wakeful heart,
I list and hearken
Till my poetic fires
Begin to darken.

Then back to bed I go. . .
Somewhat belated;
But that is one way
Poems are created.

NEW YORK (P)—The Communists have recovered the seized assets of their Daily Worker and their national headquarters offices by posting a total of $4,500 in cash toward income tax liens.

The liners United States and America could be put side by side on the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Forrestal.

Women Clothes-Conscious From TV Ads, Actress Says

NEW YORK (P)—"Television has beautiful, should know. Twice a week she comes before the cameras to speak the commercials for sponsors of 'The Ed Sullivan Show' (CBS-TV) and 'Your Hit Parade' (NBC-TV). Several hundred times a week she receives comments and queries from women viewers. Although she advertises cars and coiffeurs, most of the women correspondents are concerned with clothing.

As a model and a well-dressed young lady who travels around the country a great deal, Miss Meade has become quite an authority on women's clothing both on camera and from the viewpoint of the nation's home audience. What are her views on American women and fashion in general?

"American women try to be stylish, but basically they dress for comfort. . . . The good all-American idea of a suit is still the most popular — and the most sensible. . . . The sheath dress is more popular than the big skirt. . . . In the fashion magazines hats are being worn down on the forehead this season. But most women put them on the back of their heads. They look quite charming. . . . The worst thing a woman can do is to wear too much jewelry. When they glitter they aren't smart. . . ."

The wife of Oliver Worsham Rudd Jr., a commercial artist, Miss Meade appeared on Broadway in 'The Tender Trap' last season. She's considering other stage offers — provided they leave time for the commercials.

The state has been collecting the tax and turning it over to counties where the banks are located. Budget commissions distributed the money to counties, cities, villages and townships on the basis of need.

Local government officials conferred with Lausche and said they could not get along without the money. They pleaded for a special session to recoup the loss.

The governor remained non-committal. He gave the dozen officials time to talk things over with their associates and state legislators. He said he would be glad to hear from them further.

The governor's attitude toward a special session appeared to some to have cooled since the court decision. He reminded listeners that he favored extraordinary legislative sessions only in emergencies.

Lausche previously indicated he would meet with legislative leaders to talk over the tax problem. But leaders said they had received no invitation. They asserted it would do little good for Lausche, a Democrat, to call a special session unless the Republican-controlled Legislature wanted one.

A commission spokesman hinted at the feeling of legislative leaders about new tax laws. "Special session legislation tends to be only stop-gap," he said. "The day when you can enact stop-gap legislation is past."

He added that the commission might undertake to review the entire tax question emphasized by the court decision.

Local governments long have complained that the Legislature failed to provide adequately for their increased operating costs.

Unless a special session takes up the problem, the 102nd General Assembly will find it waiting on the doorstep next January.

Threat To Ike Brings Sentence

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—An unemployed Biloxi, Miss., man has been sentenced to 42 months in prison on his plea of guilty to a charge of writing a threatening letter to President Eisenhower.

U. S. Dist. Judge Daniel H. Thomas imposed the sentence on James L. Winterstein, 31.

The Mississippian said he did not know why he threatened to kill the President. He told the court he was an alcoholic.

The letter was written in a Mobile tavern and mailed Feb. 20. It said: "I'm going to kill you." This was repeated four more times. At the bottom was written, "I mean it," and his name.

Union Accepts City's Pay Offer

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Federation of Labor has agreed to accept Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze's offer of $102 a year pay raises for 9,000 city employees.

The mayor's offer includes a five-cent hourly raise; a flat pay hike of $102 for all "blue collar" employees, such as firemen and policemen. Police and firemen, however have not agreed to the plan.

Other benefits were four weeks vacation for 20-year employees and an improved sick leave plan.

The mayor said legislation to cover his offer will be presented to city council next Monday night. He estimated it will cost more than $1 million a year.

Lady Solons Get OK

STELLA, Mo. (AP)—The residents of Stella, population 250, apparently like their town's administration. They reelected the entire five-woman council yesterday.

EVELYN RAGDALE, 25, looks pretty fierce as she enjoys hospitality of the Los Angeles lockup. When arrested she was wanted in 15 cities on suspicion of passing an estimated $15,000 in fake payroll checks. Police said she produced the checks with a rubber stamp and check protector and cashed $500 to $600 worth a day. (International)

Poet's Corner

ONE WAY
Off in the stilly night
When all the household snoozes,
I will turn on the light
And court the Muses.

Pencil and pad in hand,
I will start humming
Over euphonic forms,
While they are coming.

At times they turn away
From my benighted wooing,
— And I have naught to show
For my ardent suing.

Then in reversal mood,
Thronging around me
With their Euterpean lore,
They will confound me.

With hushed but wakeful heart,
I list and hearken
Till my poetic fires
Begin to darken.

Then back to bed I go. . . .
Somewhat belated;
But that is one way
Poems are created.

Women Clothes-Conscious From TV Ads, Actress Says

NEW YORK (AP)—"Television has done more than anything yet conceived to make American women clothes-conscious," says Julia Meade.

Miss Meade, young, blonde and beautiful, should know. Twice a week she comes before the cameras to speak the commercials for sponsors of "The Ed Sullivan Show" (CBS-TV) and "Your Hit Parade" (NBC-TV). Several hundred times a week she receives comments and queries from women viewers. Although she advertises cars and coiffeurs, most of the women correspondents are concerned with clothing.

As a model and a well-dressed young lady who travels around the country a great deal, Miss Meade has become quite an authority on women's clothing both on camera and from the viewpoint of the nation's home audience. What are her views on American women and fashion in general?

"American women try to be stylish, but basically they dress for comfort. . . . The good all-American idea of a suit is still the most popular — and the most sensible. . . . The sheath dress is more popular than the big skirt. . . . In the fashion magazines hats are being worn down on the forehead this season. But most women put them on the back of their heads. They look quite charming. . . . The worst thing a woman can do is to wear too much jewelry. When they glitter they aren't smart. . . ."

The wife of Oliver Worsham Rudd Jr., a commercial artist, Miss Meade appeared on Broadway in "The Tender Trap" last season. She's considering other stage offers — provided they leave time for the commercials.

U. S. Selecting Its Olympic Cage Combine

12 Players Picked To Form Entry For Trials In Australia

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Olympic officials today picked a dozen basketball players the United States will send to the Olympic Games next November in Australia.

Five come from the playoff champion Bartlesville Oilers; Burdette Halderson, Bob Jeangard, James Walsh, Chuck Darling and Bill Hougland.

Selected from three other teams the Oilers met during a three-night round-robin playoff here were Carl Cain, Bill Russell and K. C. Jones of the College All-Stars; Billy Evans, Gib Ford and Ron Tomsi of the armed forces; and Dick Boushka of the Seattle Bakers.

Of the 12, only Hougland was a member of the U.S. team which swept to victory in the 1952 Olympics. At that time he was a Kansas University student.

The Oilers qualified for five places on the team by defeating the College All-Stars 79-75 in the final night of the playoffs. The balance of the 12-man team was selected by Olympic officials in consultation with Gerald Tucker, Oilers coach who automatically became Olympic coach by virtue of his team's victory.

Named assistant coach of the Olympic squad, subject to approval of his school, is Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, who directed the College All-Stars to two victories in the playoffs after bowing to the Oilers. O'Connor is head coach of basketball at Iowa.

The Olympic squad will assemble for practice at Bunker Hill AFB, Peru, Ind., Oct. 8. A nationwide exhibition tour is planned before the squad leaves for Australia the following month.

A C. "Dutch" Lonnberg, athletic director at the University of Kansas and vice chairman of the Olympic Basketball Committee, announced the selections.

Of the squad chosen, only one man, the armed forces' Tomsi, is under six feet. The former Stanford player is 5-11, but was a driving force in his team's play.

Russell, fabulous star from San Francisco University, is the giant of the squad at 6-foot-10. He was the leading scorer for the three nights with 72 points and topped all players in rebounds with 39. Tomsi was runnerup with 68 points.

Boushka was third with 55, followed by Darling and Warren with 44 apiece.

Outcome of the three-night play-offs was in doubt until the final game, in which the National AATU champion Seattle Bakers defeated the armed forces 82-79.

The playoff champion was then determined by an Olympic rule which gives two points for a victory and one for a loss, but in the event of two teams finishing with similar point totals gives the play-off victory to the team which defeated the other.

Against the All-Stars the champion Oilers roared into a quick lead in the first half sparked by Darling, the 6-9 former Iowa player. Darling scored 19 points in the first half and with two more points in the second half was high for the Oilers.

Pastrano Collects Easy Ring Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Willie Pastrano of New Orleans, eager to climb higher in the heavyweight ranks, today eyed a bout with either Joey Rowan or Chuck Speiser after hanging up an easy decision over Johnny Arthur of South Africa.

The smooth-punching Pastrano, 20-year-old native of the French Quarter, spotted Arthur 40 pounds in their 10-round bout last night and took home the easiest victory of his short career. At 188, Pastrano was the heaviest he's ever scaled and made the 228-pound Arthur a steady target for his talented left hand.

Pistons Hoping To Stop Arizin

FORT WAYNE (AP)—The Forest Wayne Pistons' biggest problem appears to be stopping Paul Arizin as they try to square their National Basketball Assn. championship series with Philadelphia here tonight.

Arizin has scored 82 points in three games, and the Warriors hold a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven series. They won two four-point victories in Philadelphia and the Pistons won by a single point here.

BASEBALL's most potent one-two-three punch is that of the Cincy Redlegs who have Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Gus Bell. Klus hit 47 homers, Post 40 and Bell 27 last year. (International)

Training Camp News Briefs

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, getting sharp pitching, broke spring camp as the Grapefruit League's No. 1 team, but Manager Fred Hutchinson, himself a former pitcher, hasn't lost his perspective.

"I'll get excited about the pitching," Hutchinson said Wednesday, "when it's the same during the season."

The Cardinal pitching staff held an outstanding 2.53 earned run average as they opened a nine-game, six-state swing with the Chicago White Sox. The Redbirds boasted a 16-8 record in exhibition games with 12 victories in their last 14.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Vic Wertz wants fans to think of him today as a first baseman and not as a recovered polio victim.

"I've made a definite effort to drive all thoughts of polio from my mind," said the Cleveland Indian infielder. "I'm over it and I want to forget it. I don't want any favors or special privileges because I had it."

The former Detroit outfielder said he thinks he has at least two good years of baseball left and he'd "like to hit 30 home runs just once before I quit." He hit 27 for the Tigers in 1950 and again 1951.

Wertz compiled a .253 batting average and knocked in 55 runs with Cleveland before polio struck.

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Two more players were lopped off the Detroit Tiger squad Wednesday to cut the roster to 31.

Pitcher Babe Birrer, 27-year-old right-hander, went to the Baltimore Orioles for the waiver price of $10,000.

Infielder Harry Malmberg, 29, was optioned to Charleston of the International League.

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—Pepper Martin, the colorful "Wild Horse of the Osage" in his playing days with the St. Louis Cardinals, will be the Chicago Cubs infielder in their pregame practices this season.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made their first stop on a road trip today.

drove in 88 runs. Kravitz has a good chance to make it and may even move ahead of either Toby Atwell and Jack Shepard, the club's first and second string catchers.

the northward road home today with Manager Marty Marion unconcerned about a four-game losing streak.

"We're trying to win, of course," he said. "But these are only exhibitions. I'm continuing the plan to rest at least a couple of my regulars every day. This is the best conditioned team I ever started north with, and I'm not going to wear it out before the season starts."

Puny Redleg Hitting Now Worries Pilot

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Hitting, which figures to be the Cincinnati Redlegs' major stock in trade, is beginning to worry Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

The Redlegs, supposedly loaded with power, aren't finding the range with their bats. "We just aren't hitting like we should," said Tebbetts as he glanced at spring training figures which showed such puny averages as .239 for Wally Post and .201 for Gus Bell.

Tebbetts also only had to think back to last year. The same ailment plagued the Reds in spring training and then contributed heavily to a dismal National League start in which the team won only 2 of its first 14 games.

The Cincinnatians could muster only five hits against Washington yesterday, but a dozen walks helped them to a 5-0 victory.

Bill Kennedy, Brooks Lawrence and Hershel Freeman collaborated in holding Washington to five hits.

Senator starter Bunky Stewart, walked five men in the first inning, and the Redlegs scored three times.

Four of the five Cincinnati hits were singles and the other was a double by Ed Bailey which actually was nothing more than a king-sized bunt.

Cleveland Indians Fan Dies At 102

CANTON (AP)—Henry Stipes died yesterday, a few weeks short of his goal to live to 103 and see the start of another baseball season.

Stipes, a retired carpenter, had been a Cleveland Indians fan for decades. On his 98th birthday, he conceded to his years and started watching the Indians on television instead of attending the games.

His 102nd birthday was last May.

Ohio To Vote On New Free Throw Lane

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio high school principals and basketball coaches will decide soon whether the new 12-foot free throw lane should be effective next fall, a year ahead of the mandatory date.

M. W. Emswiler, state high school athletic commissioner, said yesterday he was mailing questionnaires to all schools to determine sentiment on changing from the six-foot to the 12-foot lane next season.

"We don't want to put the rule into effect without approval of the schools," Emswiler said. "But if we're going to play so many of our tournament games on college floors, where the rule is effective, we either have to go along or change the floor markings."

"We must adopt the rule for the 1957-58 season, so perhaps the schools will vote to make the change effective next fall when the rule giving the two inside positions to defensive men on free throw attempts will be observed."

The free throw lane is now six feet wide. The rules committee said the wider lane, and the giving of the two positions closest to the basket to defensive players, would tend to even matters a bit for teams minus extra-tall players.

Bob Pettit, high scorer for the 1955-56 National Basketball Assn. campaign, also led the league in most rebounds with 1,164, breaking the record of 1,098 made two seasons previous by Harry Gallatin of the New York Knickerbockers.

SWO Teams Slate Tryout Sessions

The county's baseball hopefuls will have a chance to take part in tryouts for a pair of SWO League teams this Sunday.

Both the Good Hope and Milledgeville teams will start off their practice schedules with workouts starting at 2 P. M. Sunday.

Good Hope will use its regular field for practice, while Milledgeville will work out at Octa and play scheduled games on the Jeff diamond.

The practice sessions were called by Donald Hendricks, manager of the Milledgeville team, and Tom Smalley, the Good Hope pilot.

U. S. Selecting Its Olympic Cage Combine

12 Players Picked
To Form Entry For Trials In Australia

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Olympic officials today picked a dozen basketball players the United States will send to the Olympic Games next November in Australia.

Five come from the playoff champion Bartlesville Oilers; Burdette Halderson, Bob Jeannerard, James Walsh; Chuck Darling and Bill Houghland.

Selected from three other teams the Oilers met during a three-night round-robin playoff here were Carl Cain, Bill Russell and K. C. Jones of the College All-Stars; Billy Evans, Gib Ford and Ron Tomasi of the armed forces; and Dick Boushka of the Seattle Bakers.

Of the 12, only Houghland was a member of the U.S. team which swept to victory in the 1952 Olympics. At that time he was a Kansas University student.

The Oilers qualified for five places on the team by defeating the College All-Stars 79-75 in the final night of the playoffs. The balance of the 12-man team was selected by Olympic officials in consultation with Gerald Tucker, Oilers coach who automatically became Olympic coach by virtue of his team's victory.

Named assistant coach of the Olympic squad, subject to approval of his school, is Frank (Bucky) O'Connor, who directed the College All-Stars to two victories in the playoffs before bowing to the Oilers. O'Connor is head coach of basketball at Iowa.

The Olympic squad will assemble for practice at Bunker Hill AFB, Peru, Ind., Oct. 8. A nationwide exhibition tour is planned before the squad leaves for Australia the following month. A. C. "Dutch" Lomborg, athletic director at the University of Kansas and vice chairman of the Olympic Basketball Committee, announced the selections.

Of the squad chosen, only one man, the armed forces' Tomasi, is under six feet. The former Stanford player is 5-11, but was a driving force in his team's play.

Russell, fabulous star from San Francisco University, is the giant of the squad at 6-feet-10. He was the leading scorer for the three nights with 72 points and topped all players in rebounds with 39. Tomasi was runnerup with 68 points.

Boushka was third with 55, followed by Darling and Warren with 44 apiece.

Outcome of the three-night playoffs was in doubt until the final game, in which the National AAU champion Seattle Bakers defeated the armed forces 82-79.

The playoff champion was then determined by an Olympic rule which gives two points for a victory and one for a loss, but in the event of two teams finishing with similar point totals gives the playoff victory to the team which defeated the other.

Against the All-Stars the champion Oilers roared into a quick lead in the first half sparked by Darling, the 6-9 former Iowa player. Darling scored 19 points in the first half and with two more points in the second half was high for the Oilers.

Pastrano Collects Easy Ring Victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Willie Pastrano of New Orleans, eager to climb higher in the heavyweight ranks, today eyed a bout with either Joey Rowan or Chuck Speiser after hanging up an easy decision over Johnny Arthur of South Africa.

The smooth-punching Pastrano, 20-year-old native of the French Quarter, spotted Arthur last night in their 10-round bout and last night and took home the easiest victory of his short career. At 188, Pastrano was the heaviest he's ever scaled and made the 228-pound Arthur a steady target for his talented left hand.

Pistons Hoping To Stop Arizin

FORT WAYNE (AP)—The Forest Wayne Pistons' biggest problem appears to be stopping Paul Arizin as they try to square their National Basketball Assn. championship series with Philadelphia here tonight.

Arizin has scored 82 points in three games, and the Warriors hold a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven series. They won two four-point victories in Philadelphia, and the Pistons won by a single point here.

BASEBALL'S most potent one-two-three punch is that of the Cincy Redlegs who have Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post and Gus Bell. Kluz hit 47 homers, Post 40 and Bell 27 last year. (International)

Training Camp News Briefs

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, getting sharp pitching, broke spring camp as the Grapefruit League's No. 1 team, but Manager Fred Hutchinson, himself a former pitcher, hasn't lost his perspective.

"I'll get excited about the pitching," Hutch said Wednesday, "when it's the same during the season."

The Cardinal pitching staff held an outstanding 2.53 earned run average as they opened a nine-game, six-state swing with the Chicago White Sox. The Redbirds boasted a 16-8 record in exhibition games with 12 victories in their last 14.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Vic Wertz wants fans to think of him today as a first baseman and not as a recovered polio victim.

"I've made a definite effort to drive all thoughts of polio from my mind," said the Cleveland Indian infielder. "I'm over it and I want to forget it. I don't want any favors or special privileges because I had it."

The former Detroit outfielder said he thinks he has at least two good years of baseball left and he'd "like to hit 30 home runs just once before I quit." He hit 27 for the Tigers in 1950 and again 1951.

Wertz compiled a .253 batting average and knocked in 55 runs with Cleveland before polio struck.

LAKE LAND, Fla. (AP)—Two more players were lopped off the Detroit Tiger squad Wednesday to cut the roster to 31.

Pitcher Babe Birrer, 27-year-old righthander, went to the Baltimore Orioles for the waiver price of $10,000.

Infielder Harry Malmberg, 29, was optioned to Charleston of the International League.

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—Pepper Martin, the colorful "Wild Horse of the Osage" in his playing days with the St. Louis Cardinals, will be the Chicago Cubs infielder in their pregame practices this season.

Martin, who joined the Cubs as coach this year, will add color to this routine chore with his constant line of chatter and his pet expressions of "domino!" and "Buono!"—meaning good in Spanish.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox made their first stop on a road trip here today.

drove in 88 runs. Kravitz has a good chance to make it and may even move ahead of either Toby Atwell and Jack Shepard, the club's first and second string catchers.

the northward road home today with Manager Marty Marion unconcerned about a four-game losing streak.

"We're trying to win, of course," he said. "But these are only exhibitions. I'm continuing the plan to rest at least a couple of my regulars every day. This is the best conditioned team I ever started with, and I'm not going to wear it out before the season starts."

Puny Redleg Hitting Now Worries Pilot

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Hitting, which figures to be the Cincinnati Redlegs' major stock in trade, is beginning to worry Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

The Redlegs, supposedly loaded with power, aren't finding the range with their bats. "We just aren't hitting like we should," said Tebbetts as he glanced at spring training figures which showed such puny averages as .239 for Wally Post and .201 for Gus Bell.

Tebbetts also only had to think back to last year. The same ailment plagued the Reds in spring training and then contributed heavily to a dismal National League start in which the team won only 2 of its first 14 games.

The Cincinnati could muster only five hits against Washington yesterday, but a dozen walks helped them to a 5-0 victory.

Bill Kennedy, Brooks Lawrence and Hershel Freeman collaborated in holding Washington to five hits.

Senator starter Bunky Stewart, walked five men in the first inning, and the Redlegs scored three times.

Four of the five Cincinnati hits were singles and the other was a double by Ed Bailey which actually was nothing more than a king-sized bunt.

Cleveland Indians Fan Dies At 102

CANTON (AP)—Henry Stipes died yesterday, a few weeks short of his goal to live to 103 and see the start of another baseball season.

Stipes, a retired carpenter, had been a Cleveland Indians fan for decades. On his 98th birthday, he conceded to his years and started watching the Indians on television instead of attending the games. His 102nd birthday was last May.

Ohio To Vote On New Free Throw Lane

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio high school principals and basketball coaches will decide soon whether the new 12-foot free throw lane should be effective next fall, a year ahead of the mandatory date.

M. W. Emswiler, state high school athletic commissioner, said yesterday he was mailing questionnaires to all schools to determine sentiment on changing from the six-foot to the 12-foot lane next season.

"We don't want to put the rule into effect without approval of the schools," Emswiler said. "But if we're going to play so many of our tournament games on college floors, where the rule is effective, we either have to go along or change the floor markings."

"We must adopt the rule for the 1957-58 season, so perhaps the schools will vote to make the change effective next fall when the rule giving the two inside positions to defensive men on free throw attempts will be observed."

The free throw lane is now six feet wide. The rules committee said the wider lane, and the giving of the two positions closest to the basket to defensive players, would tend to even matters a bit for teams minus extra-tall players.

Bob Pettit, high scorer for the 1955-56 National Basketball Assn. campaign, also led the league in most rebounds with 1,164, breaking the record of 1,098 made two seasons previous by Harry Gallatin of the New York Knickerbockers.

SWO Teams Slate Tryout Sessions

The county's baseball hopefuls will have a chance to take part in tryouts for a pair of SWO League teams this Sunday.

Both the Good Hope and Milledgeville teams will start off their practice schedules with workouts starting at 2 P. M. Sunday.

Good Hope will use its regular field for practice, while Milledgeville will work out at Oeta and play scheduled games on the Jeff diamond.

The practice sessions were called by Donald Hendricks, manager of the Milledgeville team, and Tom Smalley, the Good Hope pilot.

Can Novice Win Coveted Masters?

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Can a newcomer win the 20th Masters, a golf classic which opened today with the biggest and best field in its brilliant history?

The records say no. The golfers say no. And the sportswriters say no. They lean toward the experience of a Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead or Ben Hogan.

But Ray O'Brien, tournament director of the Professional Golfers Assn., says yes.

"We have more fine young golfers on the tour this year than ever before, I believe," O'Brien said. "Several of them have the game to win the Masters, and I think one of them will."

He mentioned such circuit stars as Dow Finsterwald, Don Farr, field, Ernie Vossler, Lionel Hebert, Mike Fitchick, Billy Maxwell, Gene Littler and Mike Souchak.

Middlecoff, the defending champion who would like to become the first to win Masters titles in successive years, held out for experience—experience on the exacting Augusta National course.

"I don't believe any of the boys who haven't played this course for several years stand much chance," he said. "This is a course you have to know to be able to score well."

The sprawling Augusta National spread its 6,900 challenging yards before a record field of 84 for the opening round. Rich in tradition and packed with prestige, the Masters championship is one coveted by all golfers.

Best fishing, says the division, will be found in some of the larger inland lakes next weekend. Lakes which show some promise for fishing are portions of Indian, Buckeye, Rocky Fork, Glendene, Leesville, Charles Mill, Atwood, Mogadore and Berlin.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's how to work it:

AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

No Immediate Hospital Bond Issue Sought

Trustees Meet With Advisory Committee To Discuss Needs

It is now regarded as improbable, by the officials directly responsible, that any bond issue or special levy for expansion or general improvement of the Fayette County Memorial Hospital, will be presented to the voters of this county at the November election this year.

As a result of a special meeting of the Board of Trustees and a group of the Hospital Advisory Committee, Wednesday night at the hospital, this general decision was tacitly agreed upon.

It was further decided, however, that a continuation of the study of the hospital's needs in the way of an improvement program should be continued until the time seemed more propitious for launching a definite move to bring the matter before the citizens of this county for a vote.

Practically all of the trustee board members, advisory committee members and hospital medical staff members, who were present agreed that there was a definite need for action as soon as possible, toward an expansion of facilities, including more beds and more rooms, also for purchase of some new equipment.

IT ALSO was made clear that it was necessary for the public to be further enlightened as to this need, if the hospital here is to continue to progress, maintain its high standing and meet the increasing demands of the public.

Presiding at Wednesday night's meeting, was E. Marilyn Riley, president of the hospital board, who called upon all board members, advisory committee members and members of the hospital medical staff, also Miss Christine Evans, administrator, for individual expression of their views, as well as for opinions they had received from others who have been contacted.

President Riley made it clear that continued and intensive study should be the immediate objective; he asked the advisory committee members to make further inspection visits to the hospital to obtain definite individual knowledge of needs and to continue contacts with the public so that people generally would become better acquainted with the urgency of providing more facilities at the institution.

It was evident at the Wednesday night meeting, from reports of members of the advisory committee, that the people they had contacted during the last few weeks, without exception, had expressed satisfaction with the hospital service rendered here and were favorably inclined to support future constructive moves to enlarge or further benefit the institution.

The main objections raised to ward immediate moves of this type, it was said, were that in view of other issues which had arisen at this time, particularly as to school bond issues, it was not believed to be a desirable period to seek a bond issue of a size necessary to make most of the improvements being discussed, such as a new wing and some other changes.

DURING the meeting President Riley called attention to the fact that the original bond issue for .7 of a mill had now become lower, to .3 of a mill and had 10 years yet to run. It will be lowered still more, probably before it is all paid off.

The later bond issue for the new wing added in 1952 was for .65 of a mill for five years. It also has been reduced to .45 of a mill and expires next year.

The hospital has never asked for an operating levy, such as most other municipal or county hospitals in Ohio have done. So far it has paid its own way due to efficient operation although the time is at hand, it was stated when replacement of some facilities is becoming imperative.

President Riley and other trustees present stated that the problem is serious enough that it cannot be ignored much longer, or just be "passed up", hence the desire for advisory group members to keep the trustees informed as to public reaction in discussion of hospital requirements toward proper operation in the future.

Hope was expressed that it would be possible to keep alive the public interest in order to support the board and staff members in their desire for further improvements which would enable the hospital to increase and broaden its service and make it unnecessary for many of the cases requiring certain types of special treatment to go to larger city hospitals.

It was also stated before the meeting closed that there would be another meeting of the advisory committee with the trustees and staff members, in the not too distant future.

Wool Projects Discussed Here

Home Demonstration Leaders In Session

Thirty-six leaders from the Fayette County home demonstration clubs spent Wednesday at the Farm Bureau auditorium learning how to work with wool and wool mixtures.

This was the first step toward tailoring as a project later when a home demonstration agent is secured for Fayette County.

Mrs. Herschel Hulett, president of the Home Demonstration Council introduced Miss Edna Callahan, clothing specialist of Ohio State University, who presented much information for the leaders to take to their clubs. The session lasted from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Miss Callahan described how to make and use a tailor's hem, cushion and a pressing mitt. As to the use of a pressing cloth, Miss Callahan told the women that a strip of cotton and a strip of wool material sewed together was very satisfactory.

She stressed that all woolen materials should be pre-shrunk before starting to sew on them. She explained the difference between pressing and ironing. The steps taken in constructing a garment of wool also were presented by Miss Callahan.

Other interesting pointers included how to remove a shiny surface on wool and how to correctly press men's trousers.

AT NOON a number of the women enjoyed a sack lunch; many others went to the downtown restaurants.

At the conclusion of the session, Mrs. Willard Bitzer, district chairman of the "Make It With Wool" contest sponsored by the Ohio Wool Growers Association, gave a short talk on the requirements of this contest. It is open to all girls from 15-22 whether they are enrolled in a 4-H project or not.

Only Two Cases For Grand Jury Monday

When the Fayette County Grand Jury meets Monday, the jurors will have only two to consider—the few est in years.

Not in the recollection of court attaches has a grand jury had such a small number of cases to take up when it met.

Indications are that the grand jury session will be very brief, inasmuch as one of the cases is for gery and the other non-support.

Delbert Rankin, for non-support, and Ott Gilmore on a forgery charge, are the two cases to be investigated.

It is possible that other cases may develop and be added to the list before the grand jury meets Monday.

With our children being removed from the Washington High School and the consequent decrease in enrollment, the Washington High School administrative personnel are being forced to eliminate some of the courses listed above even though they will still be the largest high school in the county with our children out.

Our Rural Parents Association feels the members of our Miami Trace board are conscientious and motivated by a sincere desire to do the best they can for our children with the means at hand. Are they faced with an impossible problem which cooperation with city schools, on a permanent and not just a temporary basis, would solve?

QUESTION: Is it physically possible for our children to be furnished "the same courses and opportunities" by scattering them over the county into four smaller high schools?

QUESTION: Might it not be better to consolidate all the upper three high school grades (Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors) of Fayette County (rural and city) into one centrally located high school which would not only supply all the courses listed above but would give our school administrators the chance to EXPAND THE CURRICULUM EVEN FURTHER THAN IS NOW POSSIBLE?

QUESTION: Would not the crowding conditions be greatly relieved in present county high schools by their handling elementary and junior high students and sending the upper three grades to a centrally located high school with the maximum in classroom opportunities available to ALL Fayette County children?

QUESTION: Would it not be advisable for us to consider spreading the necessary building costs, which must come, over the entire county when the project can be financed with only half the cost to each tax payer and at the same time benefit all our children equally with more opportunities for all?

Wool Projects Discussed Here

Home Demonstration Leaders In Session

Thirty-six leaders from the Fayette County home demonstration clubs spent Wednesday at the Farm Bureau auditorium learning how to work with wool and wool mixtures.

This was the first step toward tailoring as a project later when a home demonstration agent is secured for Fayette County.

Mrs. Herschel Hulett, president of the Home Demonstration Council introduced Miss Edna Callahan, clothing specialist of Ohio State University, who presented much information for the leaders to take to their clubs. The session lasted from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Miss Callahan described how to make and use a tailor's hem, cushion and a pressing mit. As to the use of a pressing cloth, Miss Callahan told the women that a strip of cotton and a strip of wool material sewed together was very satisfactory.

She stressed that all woolen materials should be pre-shrunk before starting to sew on them. She explained the difference between pressing and ironing. The steps taken in constructing a garment of wool also were presented by Miss Callahan.

Other interesting pointers included how to remove a shiny surface on wool and how to correctly press men's trousers.

AT NOON a number of the women enjoyed a sack lunch; many others went to the downtown restaurants.

At the conclusion of the session, Mrs. Willard Bitzer, district chairman of the "Make It With Wool" contest sponsored by the Ohio Wool Growers Association, gave a short talk on the requirements of this contest. It is open to all girls from 15-22 whether they are enrolled in a 4-H project or not.

Leaders present for the meeting included: Mrs. Martin O'Cull, Mrs. Thomas Stultz, Mrs. Orris Mallow, Mrs. Gale Parrett, Mrs. Marshall Brock, Mrs. Hoyt Brock, Mrs. Willis Fent, Mrs. Joyce Bryant, Mrs. Wendall Barr, Mrs. Roy Gosnell, Mrs. Herschel Hulett, Mrs. Bertha Dawes, Mrs. John Hidy, Mrs. Pauline Richardson, Mrs. Marie Alexander, Miss Louise Ritter, Mrs. John McFadden, Mrs. Robert McFadden, Mrs. Margaret Swaney, Mrs. Reba Straley, Mrs. Willard Bitzer, Mrs. Everett Page, Mrs. Jed Stuckey, Mrs. Gilbert Hooks, Mrs. Ray Wieland, Mrs. Lorain Morter, Mrs. John Langley, Mrs. Albert Bryant, Mrs. John W. Only Two Cases For Grand Jury Monday

When the Fayette County Grand Jury meets Monday, the jurors will have only two to consider—the fewest in years.

Not in the recollection of court attaches has a grand jury had such a small number of cases to take up when it met.

Indications are that the grand jury session will be very brief, inasmuch as one of the cases is for sery and the other non-support.

Delbert Rankin, for non-support, and Ott Gilmore for a forgery charge, are the two cases to be investigated.

It is possible that other cases may develop and be added to the list before the grand jury meets Monday.

Fayette County is currently eighth of the 22 counties in percentage of quota reached in blood drives.

With our children being removed from the Washington High School and the consequent decrease in enrollment, the Washington High School administrative personnel are being forced to eliminate some of the courses listed above even though they will still be the largest high school in the county with our children out.

Our Rural Parents Association feels the members of our Miami Trace board are conscientious and motivated by a sincere desire to do the best they can for our children with the means at hand. Are they faced with an impossible problem which cooperation with city schools, on a permanent and not just a temporary basis, would solve?

QUESTION: Is it physically possible for our children to be furnished "the same courses and opportunities" by scattering them over the county into four smaller high schools?

QUESTION: Might it not be better to consolidate all the upper three high school grades (Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors) of Fayette County (rural and city) into one centrally located high school which would not only supply all the courses listed above but would give our school administrators the chance TO EXPAND THE CURRICULUM EVEN FURTHER THAN IS NOW POSSIBLE?

QUESTION: Would not the crowding conditions be greatly relieved in present county high schools by their handling elementary and junior high students and sending the upper three grades to a centrally located high school with the maximum in classroom opportunities available to ALL Fayette County children?

QUESTION: Would it not be advisable for us to consider spreading the necessary building costs, which must come, over the entire county when the project can be financed with only half the cost to each tax payer and at the same time benefit all our children equally with more opportunities for all?
